Portuguese Government Fears Another Revolt Moyle and Allen, Missing For Over Week, Located On Uninhabited Island

Troops Occupied Strategic Points In City of Lisbon

Cabinet Held an Emergency Session Yesterday Evening and Unusual Military Precautions Taken to Prevent Outbreak; Telephone Lines Cut Between Lisbon and Oporto.

Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 16.—Portuguese Government revealed fears of another revolution to-day by taking unusual military precautions and confining troops to barracks. The cabinet was in emergency session throughout last night. Military cavalry was brought to Lisbon from other points. Troops occupied strategic points in the city until early to-day when they returned to barracks. Telephone lines between Lisbon and Oporto were cut.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS

City Council Will Be Asked to Place Automatic System in Operation

Initial steps towards installation of traffic automatic traffic control system in the downtown section of Victoria were made at the meeting of the Police Commission yesterday afternoon, when the police chief was instructed to secure permits on six signals to be obtained from the City Council.

The signals proposed are the type installed at street corners, not the overlying centre-street type. Commissioner McGavin, who moved that they be secured, said the corner type was being used in the city.

The commission was backed in its desire to secure the signals by the local branch of the Automobile Club of British Columbia, which requested that they be installed at the intersection of the main highway and the city street.

Commissioner McGavin said the corner type was less expensive than the centre-street type, and that it was an intersection did not block out motorists' view of the signal.

Barnjum Buys Another

Big Tree Timber Tract

Frank J. D. Barnjum of Montreal, Annapolis, Nova Scotia, completed purchase to-day through the assistance of the British Columbia Timber company, of another virgin tract of trees in the Sahtlan district of coast island, in order to prevent the tree from being sacrificed to the axe.

The second tract purchased by Mr. Barnjum, and the fourth tract purchased by him and his friends, explained his desire to save some of the disappearing virgin timber in the Cowichan Lake district, a circumference of thirty-three or eleven miles in diameter at the top, and is estimated to be some 500,000 old. He pointed out that consequently it must have been more than a century at the time William the Conqueror invaded England.

Now anyone can ruthlessly cut down such age old giants as this, especially without any profit to the operator, is beyond my conception," he said.

"The cost of reproducing a tree of this size and age would amount to many billions of dollars, compounding interest on planting cost alone without figuring taxes or any other charges."

Mr. Barnjum said in the destruction of such beautiful works of nature British Columbia is losing its greatest asset, as these magnificent trees are one of, if not the main, attraction to tourists who certainly will not care to visit this once beautiful province when it has become merely a wilderness of stumps, sawdust and logging slash.

Mr. Barnjum, who is a frequent visitor to Victoria, is spending a week here at this time.

FOUR PLUNGE TO DEATH IN FLAMING PLANE

Boeing Plane, Bound For Portland, Hurlled Into San Francisco Bay

Pilot and Passengers, Huddled in Cabin, Badly Mangled

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 16.—A passenger mail plane of the Pacific Air Transport caught fire and plunged into San Francisco Bay this morning, carrying its pilot and three passengers to death.

Shortly after taking off for Portland the plane evidently caught fire and its pilot, Ray Boudreau of Medford, Ore., turned back toward the airport. He was battling desperately to effect a safe landing when flames enveloped the ship and it dived several hundred feet, struck the water and sank.

The passengers were: Kirk Herr of the Seattle Star, Seattle.

W. H. Bissel of San Francisco.

Witnesses said the craft was a blazing mass just before it hit the water. It carried 400 pounds of mail, the value of which was unknown to airport officials.

The cause of the fire was a mystery to aviation authorities. The plane, a tri-motored ship, nosed over and settled on its back in about thirty feet of water. A diver who inspected the wreckage said the bodies of the pilot and passengers were huddled in the cabin and apparently had been badly mangled, either by an explosion or by the impact when the plane struck the water.

Boudreau formerly was an army flier, having been stationed at Crissy Field, San Francisco. He joined the transport organization only recently. Diesel and Sheehan had booked a passage to Portland and Herr was going to Seattle.

CASE TO MEET, TICKET SELLER TOLD BY COURT

Wm. Mitchell Hears Magistrate's Ruling in Exhibition Car Drawing.

Magistrate George Jay this morning ruled that the defence had a case to meet in the prosecution brought by Clarence Harris, 530 St. Patrick Street, against William Mitchell, alleging sale of lottery tickets in connection with the drawing held at the Provincial Exhibition.

The hearing was short, Mr. Harris being the only witness. He said he had seen Mr. Mitchell on the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets with a pad and pencil in his hand, standing near a car with an exhibition sign on it.

He heard the accused ask pedestrians to buy a ticket and take a chance on the car. Mr. Harris himself purchased ticket number 12328X from the accused, paying fifty cents for it, he testified.

There was no cross-examination. Mr. Henderson based his argument on the fact that section 236 of the Criminal Code, under which the prosecution was laid, provided an exemption for fair classification.

Hinchliffe Moves To Standardize Teachers' Wages

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 16.—Appointment of a committee of nineteen to arrange for standardization of teachers' salaries throughout the province is planned by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, according to his statement to the Union of B.C. Municipalities here to-day.

The committee, said the Minister, will consist of three representatives of the municipal union, three from the School Trustees' Association, three business men appointed by the government, and nine teachers. The chairman will likely be a judge without vote.

The object of this committee will be to fix standard rates of wages to apply to all different branches and classes of teachers. Such factors as the size of class, number of grades involved, and continuity of service will be considered in fixing classifications.

"The classes will be like algebraic symbols, and the committee will fix the rates for each symbol," explained the Minister.

Manslaughter Hearing Adjourned When Little Son Of Accused Killed

Lloyd Edgelow, Whose Father Faces Serious Charge, Dies After Being Struck by Automobile; Court Grants Remand When Tragedy Explained; Automobile Mishap Strikes Second Blow at Young Couple, Taking Their Only Child, a Blue-eyed Three-year-old Son.

Fate used a double-bitted weapon to strike at Vernon Edgelow, taxi driver, of 1007 Collinson Street.

This morning Edgelow was to have appeared for preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter, the result of an accident in which Thomas Watson, custom officer, died.

Yesterday evening Mr. Edgelow's son and only child Lloyd, three and one-half years old, was killed on the street near his home by an automobile.

Mr. Edgelow did not appear in the City Police Court this morning. A sympathetic court extended its deepest regrets in his hour of trouble and without hesitation agreed to forget the case for a week.

And a city, with its heart strings heavily touched by the grim irony of the tragedy, felt even more deeply the misery which faces Mr. and Mrs. Edgelow, a young couple, who started on life's adventure not long ago. Mr. Edgelow is only twenty-six years old and has been in the city about one year.

People who saw the accident which snuffed out the life of the blue-eyed lad and the grief-stricken young mother called from her home to find the babe dead in a neighbor's house, were witnesses of a drama reaching to the depths of their souls.

WENT OUT TO PLAY

Laughing and full of life, the lad went out to play in the park of his home about 5:30 o'clock. His mother was preparing the evening meal and heard his happy shouts to playmates. The boy was popular among the other tots in the district, and when his mother allowed him to go out she dressed him in a pale blue knitted suit, contrasting with the golden locks of his little head.

The boy left the yard and toddled off to play with friends elsewhere. He saw them on the other side of Cook Street on a neighbor's veranda, and started to run across.

The lad never reached the other side. From a southerly direction on Cook Street came an automobile driven by R. D. Hall of Trail, B.C. The boy ran in front of the car, was knocked over and crushed.

Sioux Lookout, Ont., Sept. 16.—Missing for more than three weeks in the wilds of Northern Ontario, Charles Gordon, forty, pilot-geologist for the Consolidated Smelters Company, to-day was safe at Trout Lake. Word of the flier's safety was brought here by a search party which had been scouring the territory since August 15, when Gordon disappeared on a flight to Trout Lake.

Shortly after taking off to carry supplies to miners working on his company's property near Trout Lake, Gordon became lost. He was forced down on Nipik Lake due to a shortage of gas, according to word brought in by the search party. He remained in the vicinity of the lake for three weeks, subsisting chiefly on the supplies carried in his plane.

After three weeks of aimless wandering Gordon met with a party of Indians, with which he hiked to Trout Lake. Once there, he had little difficulty in establishing contact with the search party. He appeared none the worse for his adventure. Arrangements now are being made to bring Gordon out with the next flight.

Gordon, a nephew of Rev. Charles Gordon (Ralph Connor), well-known Winnipeg novelist, started from Sioux Lookout on August 15 to carry supplies to miners working on the Consolidated Smelters property near Trout Lake.

For two weeks airmen have been scouring the territory and several flights had been made in the Trout Lake district but no trace of the missing flier was found until to-day.

The airman is well known in the west. He is the author of several books, one of which, "Gringo," is known by most of the mining fraternity.

UNION ASKS NEW LAW ON TAX APPEALS

Municipalities Would Have Assessment Legislation Similar to Vancouver

Many Resolutions Passed at Convention Session in New Westminster To-day

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 16.—Revision of legislation covering assessment appeals, to provide a basis similar to that in the Vancouver charter, will be asked by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities. The proposed amendment would limit appeals to the point of whether the property in question is assessed unfairly as compared with adjoining land or lands with equal advantage of situation.

Burnaby's proposal that school costs and maintenance be divided equally among the municipality, province and Dominion, was shelved for one year. The resolutions committee stated a motion will be presented later in regard to school finances as between the province and municipalities.

The union expressed satisfaction that the province is examining health

SEVERE QUAKES IN JAPAN AND NEW ZEALAND

Tokio, Sept. 16.—A sharp earthquake shook Tokyo and vicinity at 8:45 o'clock this evening (7:45 a.m. E.S.T. to-day). As far as could be learned immediately there was no damage.

Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 16.—Queenstown was shaken this morning by a severe earthquake which broke windows and frightened the populace.

Safety of Two Airmen Attempting Non-stop Flight From Tokio to Seattle Told in Radio Message Relayed From Russian Ships Through the St. Paul Wireless Station in Bering Sea; Now on Board Vessel in Olyutor Gulf; Left Samushire Beach on September 7 and Were Forced Down on Isolated Coast.

Seattle, Sept. 16.—Given up as lost on their non-stop flight attempt from Japan to Seattle, Cecil A. Allen and Don Moyle, California aviators, were reported to-day by three Soviet vessels to be safe in Olyutor Gulf, Northern Kamchatka.

ONTARIO FLIER, MISSING FOUR WEEKS, FOUND

The messages said the fliers landed on an uninhabited island and were "safe and well" and would be home soon.

The messages were intercepted by the naval radio station at St. Paul Island in the Bering Sea and by the U.S. coastguard cutter Itasca of the Bering Sea patrol.

The messages received by the Itasca and relayed to northern division headquarters of the coastguard here said the fliers were aboard the Soviet steamer Pilya Krabalobe, another Soviet vessel.

The steamer Esquimos at Pen-jensk Bar, radioed the Pilya was in the Olyutor Gulf, Kamchatkan Peninsula.

Capt. H. D. Hinchley, commander of the coast guard, said the message was sent through St. Paul station which relayed it to Cordova, Alaska, and thence here.

The message was signed "Don," he said, and told Miss Bresson the fliers were safe on the island and would be in Seattle about September 22.

Capt. Hinchley said he had advised the commander of the Bering Sea coast guard patrol of the message and had asked him to investigate and report back immediately.

WANT PUBLICITY

The complete message read: "Landed on uninhabited island. Everything all right. Have Frank put publicity man on job. Will be in Seattle September 22."

The message was not listed in marine records here.

The message was addressed to Miss Bresson, fiancée of Moyle, at Riverdale, Calif. Several vessels of the coast guard have been combing the Aleutians westward of their base at Dutch Harbor.

FUELED LINDBERGH PLANE

The naval radio station at Bremerton, which received the messages from St. Paul Island after they had been relayed to Cordova, said the Buriat was a Russian vessel which had supplied the Lindberghs with fuel on the Kamchatka Peninsula.

The Buriat's position was not given in the messages intercepted by St. Paul Island, but it was assumed she was off Kamchatka or the Kuriles.

Allen and Moyle too off from Samushiro Beach, 375 miles north of Tokyo, Japan, at 12:30 p.m. (P.S.T.) Monday, September 7. They were flying a rebuilt monoplane originally built for Harold Gatty for a trans-Pacific flight last year. An hour and ten minutes after their take-off from Samushiro Beach Allen and Moyle were sighted over Point Brimo, 110 miles from their starting point. They were unheard from after that and a search

Asks Municipalities To Place Respective Relief Programmes

New Westminster, Sept. 16.—If British Columbia municipalities wish to aid the provincial government in accelerating relief work, they must place their respective relief work programmes before the province without delay, regardless of the fact that complete details of governmental aid have not yet been fixed.

This advice was given by Hon. R. W. Bruhn yesterday evening at a banquet attended by delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the B.C. Good Roads League.

Mr. Bruhn explained that arrangements have already been made whereby the Dominion will assume 50 per cent and the province 25 per cent of the labor cost of municipal relief work. Advice is expected from Ottawa shortly on whether any governmental aid will be given toward material costs.

LAY WORK PROPOSALS

"I ask all municipalities represented here to-night," said Mr. Bruhn, "to lay their work proposals before the government. Don't excuse yourselves by saying that you do not know the final distribution of expenses. You know definitely that at least 75 per cent of

MORE LIVESTOCK SOLUTION OF FARM PROBLEMS

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 16.—More diversified farming and limited raising of livestock under a system of advisory farm management is the only solution for some distress on the Canadian prairies, in the opinion of C. M. Brown, president of the colonization and corporation. He has returned on a three-week tour of 125 western states which are being operated under supervision of the corporation. The company was formed in 1929 in it was found mortgagors were falling in arrears of interest and tenants and purchasers under sale agreements were failing to meet their obligations.

Through the system, western farmers were slowly being shifted away from an all-wheat crop, he said.

SUICED MAN SUES BUSINESS WOMAN

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—A man sued a woman for breach of promise yesterday. Dr. Fred P. W. Walker, retired Boston dentist, brought the action in Suffolk Superior Court and thinks the jilting he says he received at the hands of Mrs. Mary E. Emerson, a business woman, is worth $25,000. "But it's a woman's privilege to change her mind," Mrs. Emerson said when informed of the filing of the suit. "I have known Dr. Walker for many years, but I don't have to marry him if I don't want to. I just changed my mind, that's all."

Conservative Party Opposed to Principle of Proportional Representation

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Opposition to the principle of proportional representation contained in a suggestion by Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, for a reduction in the number of seats in the Manitoba Legislature, was expressed yesterday evening on behalf of the Conservative party by Col. P. G. Taylor, leader of the group. Col. Taylor said his party has no objection to the proposed reduction, but "will use every legislative means to prevent the extension of the suggested proportional representation system to the rural areas of the province." Mr. Major's suggestion would reduce the number of seats from 35 to 25 and would apply proportional representation to the whole province with the exception of four single member constituencies.

Sawyer Advises San Francisco On Alaska Highway

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—A highway connecting Alaska and California will develop the territory with "amazing rapidity" and create new markets and fields for the investment of Pacific Coast capital, Ernest W. Sawyer, personal representative of Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur in Alaska, said here yesterday. He recently returned from a lengthy tour of Alaska as the leader of a group of business men and members of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles. He warned San Francisco business men of the danger of Seattle and Los Angeles leading in promoting the development of Alaska.

Splendid Saanich Products Displayed At Fall Exhibition

Fair at Saanichton Proves Best in History of District; Indian Display is Special Feature; Hall Presents Appearance of Real Old-fashioned Country Fair; Partial Prize List Announced.

By Staff Representative
Saanichton, Sept. 16.—Produce of all kinds, from the land, the farm and the home, is on display to-day in the Agricultural Hall here, where the sixty-third annual fall exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society is in progress. Judging of the numerous and fine exhibits took all yesterday afternoon and most of the evening, and again this morning the judges were hard at work, having an exceedingly difficult time in deciding first, second and third places. Not for a long time has Saanichton seen such a splendid fair, and those who have worked so hard to make it a success feel well rewarded for their labors.

The first glimpse of the large hall presents the appearance of a real old-type country fair, the stalls full up with displays of the products of the district. There is sawdust on the floor, evergreen boughs and branches on the balconies and the walls, huge sheaves of wheat and stalks of corn in the corners, and everywhere wonderful fruits and vegetables and bottled goods. The farmers are justly proud of their displays this year, and the judges were hard at work in their praise yesterday. The egg exhibit was especially good, and the judge of this class said it was undoubtedly one of the finest in Western Canada. The judging of this display will not be finished until to-day, as each egg has to be tested before a light.

First inside the main doors is the display by the Indians of Saanich. There are articles of all varieties and descriptions. There is the produce of the land, some fine apples, potatoes and other vegetables being seen. There is the work of the bakery, including bread, pies and cakes. On the stall, the head work and basket work, for which the Indians are famous, is also seen in some very fine beaded bags, of artistic and original design; moccasins and baskets. The homespun yarn, which is now becoming popular, has a special place in the display. The Indians, it was explained, get the fleece in its raw state from the sheep, and put it through its various stages until the finished product emerges as a pair of socks, a fine sweater or some other article of clothing. A hand-made lace bedspread of exquisite design was much admired in the Indian display. It must have taken many months to finish. Officials in charge of the fair are very gratified with the Indians' showing, as they feel it shows they are taking a keen interest in the progress of the municipality.

There are fruits and vegetables of every kind, variety, class and size. Potatoes, of course, are much in evidence, and there are some beauties in the various displays. There are red and white carrots, some of them eight inches in length; cauliflower, the whiteness of which has never been equaled in Saanich, so the exhibitors claim; corn on the cob that is so yellow and shiny that it looks as if a glazing brush had just been run over the cobs; literally huge pumpkins that would thrill any child, and a grown-up, for that matter, at Halloween; white and green cabbages of an enormous size; cucumbers, large and small; tomatoes of a brilliant red color and a firmness to suit the most particular; onions of all varieties; crisp lettuce heads; leeks, squashes, turnips, man-golds, beets and others too numerous to mention are on display. Five very fine exhibits, each displaying fifteen kinds of vegetables, are seen at one end of the hall.

BEAUTIFUL FRUIT

Then there is the fruit, and only to walk around and look at the exhibits makes one's tongue water. The apples are exceptionally fine. There are Gravenstein, Alexander, Wealthy, Snow, McIntosh Red, Northern Spy, Baldwin, Jonathan and many other varieties, all attractively arranged in groups of five, red and shiny, or speckled with green and brown. There is a whole shelf of them in individual groups, while another shelf is given over to boxes of apples. There are plums of all sorts, of pears, all of them delicious looking; one group of five peaches that look as fine as one would think they were grown under glass and cared for most carefully. But they were raised outside, and needed no more than ordinary care. There is a display of green and black grapes that visitors from the city are finding hard to believe grew in Saanich and were not imported from California, or even from Spain. Then there are walnuts, which many did not know were raised in Saanich, crab-apples, and muskmelons that look as fine as the imported canteloupes.

The women of Saanich seem to have excelled themselves this year, for their exhibits are quite wonderful. The bottled goods section is particularly fine. There are carrots, peas, asparagus, beans, beets, corn, on the cob, mashed potatoes, and in small pieces: onions, and even cauliflower that is done up in great white chunks. Then there is salmon done in the same way and great white pieces of luscious-looking chicken. In the fruit section are all varieties of berries, plums, peaches, pears, grapes and apricots. There is also a display of bottled chutney, pickles and assorted goods. Prizes were awarded in this class for groups of five bottles. A shelf of jellies is included in this section.

TASTY DISPLAY

There is also a pleasing display of the cake and pastry branch of the culinary art. There are cakes of all sorts, seed layer cakes, fancy seed cakes, and in small pieces: onions, and even cauliflower that is done up in great white chunks. Then there is salmon done in the same way and great white pieces of luscious-looking chicken. In the fruit section are all varieties of berries, plums, peaches, pears, grapes and apricots. There is also a display of bottled chutney, pickles and assorted goods. Prizes were awarded in this class for groups of five bottles. A shelf of jellies is included in this section.

On the balconies are the fancy work and the various school exhibits, which are exceedingly good. There is hand-work that ranges from neat little dollies and pillow slips to elaborately worked tea cloths and hand-embroidered pieces of linen that would make any bottom drawer look attractive. The school exhibits comprise penmanship, painting and drawing, flower pressing, plasticine work and other artistic and educational displays. Also on the balconies are displays of amateur photography.

A flower show is incorporated in the fair, it seems. The flowers are really magnificent and all the beautiful autumn varieties are there, the dahlias at the chrysanthemum being particularly in evidence. The dahlias run the gamut from a small type to the gloriously tinted cactus. The chrysanthemums are lovely as usual. There is a good show of gladioli in every color and size. There are also roses, pansies, carnations, nasturtiums, jacks-of-all-trades of mixed flowers, as well as some rarely seen lilies. Also on display are some healthy-looking potted plants.

In sacks are seen field peas, oats, wheat and different varieties of clover, hay, alfalfa and huge stalks of corn with the golden ears popping out of the green. It is these products that lead to the hall so much the appearance of the typical country fair.

The Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology at Saanichton has an interesting display on the stage of the hall. It shows and explains plant diseases of mixed flowers, as well as some rarely seen lilies. Also on display are some healthy-looking potted plants.

HIGHWAY MISTAKES

ONE OF THE CHIEF TASKS OF ALL governments these days is to save money without impairing the public services. Some are finding it more difficult than others; but the paper which Mr. S. S. McDiarmid, city engineer of Trail, read to the convention of the Good Roads League of British Columbia on Monday shows this province an easy way to a cheaper and better road-building programme. As The Times pointed out yesterday, his proposal is the appointment of a competent, non-partisan highway commission that would control construction and maintenance, subject, of course, to such appropriations as the Legislature may make from time to time.

Mr. McDiarmid proves how the cause of economy could be served, were his suggestion adopted, by citing numerous instances of wasteful expenditure in the past. He recognizes, as does The Times, that highway construction is an effective vote-getter; yet his criticisms are so much to the point that there need be no apology for pointing them out to the taxpayers, from whom the money for all public works must come. Here are some extracts from his paper:

In one constituency both political parties have promised a million dollar bridge, leading from a city onto a very crooked road about fifty miles in length and with long stretches too narrow for cars to pass. A portion of this road, it is true, forms a link in a main highway, but on this highway the traffic is limited by the capacities of two ferries, one on each side of the proposed bridge.

For ten years huge sums have been spent upon what has heretofore been described as the Trans-provincial Highway. Instead of improving this highway so as to bring it up to reasonable standard, there has been work done on four different trans-provincial roads and during last month the announcement has been made that a new line more than a hundred miles through a wilderness, to be open to traffic five or six months in the year, is to be constructed. Instead of making real highways of roads through settled areas, millions will be spent in the wilderness.

Sections of the first mentioned trans-provincial highway have been surfaced under twenty-year bonds with a material whose life is less than five years. No municipality would be permitted by the government to spend public money in this way. Although more than six million dollars have been spent recently in one construction year, not a yard of hard surface pavement was put down.

The most densely settled portion of the province is that known as the Lower Mainland, that portion lying west of Hope. In one year fifty per cent of all capital expenditure in that territory was confined to one electoral district and forty-six per cent of all maintenance expenditures likewise placed. A certain section of road surfaced at thirty thousand dollars per mile failed so badly within twelve months that motorists driving on it broke springs. Two seasons passed with the only repairs made by dumping loose earth into the holes in the pavement.

In two instances, one in the north and one in the lower mainland, roads were started in 1916 without making surveys. In both instances the foreman ran ahead until he struck an impassable bluff and then tried for instructions. In one case the work had to be closed down.

It will be understood that Mr. McDiarmid has no axe, political or otherwise, to grind. He speaks as a competent engineer in behalf of better roads, pointing out the errors of the past and advocating an effective means of avoiding mistakes in the future. His suggestion of a highway commission is one which the government would do well to consider without delay.

WHERE COURAGE COUNTS

IN THE GRAND SCALE OF HUMAN events it is unlikely that the literary works of the late Sir Hall Caine will be immortal, but his life was a gleaming example of confidence and courage. His difficulties were the difficulties of the average man of the great masses of the world. Similar difficulties are discouraging people in every walk of life every day. Yet he had the confidence in himself and the courage to surmount them.

He was left an orphan at a very early age. He spent his life in poverty with relatives. When he died, at the age of seventy-eight, he was said to be one of the wealthiest novelists in the world. His home was a castle.

But these achievements alone are not extraordinary. Many men have gone from rags to riches.

The important point is that his early literary works were ridiculed and laughed at. He was openly derided. It took a great soul to transcend that. But his confidence did not flinch. Nor his courage. He knew what he wanted to do, and continued in this faith until he achieved it. But the going was hard.

He studied architecture. He tried journalism. Then he became secretary to Dante Gabriele Rossetti, the great poet-painter. This association fired him with the determination to carry on his fight for recognition.

Then, he "arrived." His first book, "The Shadow of Crime," was still being widely read when his second, "Son of Hagar," appeared. It was acclaimed, and widely distributed.

His novels were adapted for the stage. Royalities poured in by the thousands. New stories, new novels, and new plays followed. Because of the peculiar construction of his novels, they were easily dramatized.

This continued throughout the rest of his life. To-day there are few persons who have not heard of Sir Hall Caine if they have not read him.

Whether his works will survive the aggression of time is of little consequence in this sense. He was a great writer, if not an immortal one, and became a great writer through courage. A less courageous person might have withdrawn into oblivion when he was ridiculed. Sir Hall Caine might have tried to make a living out of architecture.

His life was a prototype. It is a hint of the countless other geniuses who perhaps will never be discovered because they can not face ridicule. Society is sceptical of the man who lacks courage.

WHAT GREEDY PROMOTERS DID

MR. GEORGE C. McDONALD, CHAIRMAN of the executive committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, told the delegates to the convention in Regina recently that the excesses of profit taken by those who were engaged in the process of promotion during the boom days represent a toll on Canadian business that the country could not stand. The Financial Post was so impressed with the remarks of Mr. McDonald that it printed them in full.

One of the chief charges Mr. McDonald makes is that sponsors of new companies took out large cash profits from the original funds raised by investors, instead of waiting for their profit to come from earnings made out of the reasonable operation of the enterprises so established. There were mergers that were effected primarily to enable some one to make a large commission on the sale of securities, plus another large profit from the sale, through the stock market, of common shares received as a bonus. The Post notes, too, that old established companies optioned at unreasonable prices by clever financial operators, who sold their options at a large profit to investment houses which, in their turn, resold the businesses to the general public at another profit, probably keeping control of the new common stock as extra sweetening for what was already a luscious dessert. Hence, investors are now paying the price for such financial excesses, in declining stock markets, undigested issues, dividend reductions and frozen capital.

It is all to the good that prominent businessmen like Mr. McDonald should speak out at a time like this. He recognizes, of course, that there exists a capacity to produce wealth per capita on a greater scale than at any previous stage in history; consequently, he assures us, if the wheels of distribution can only be set going normally, there would appear to be no reason why prosperous times should not come back within a reasonable time. But he warns that bad practices must be eradicated.

HARD FACTS

SEVERAL INFLUENTIAL UNITED States dailies are using plain language to remind the American public that if it insists upon having more guns, it must make up its mind to pay more taxes. They are using this argument to draw attention to the fact that the treasury already is facing a deficit of more than $1,000,000,000, and that by next July it will have reached $3,000,000,000, or more.

The New York World-Telegram does not concern itself with what it calls "moral costs" or peace-peddling pacts or disarmament conferences; it says all these can be forgotten because "the necessity of a large tax increase in the midst of depression is enough by itself to force an arms cut if our politicians have any sanity."

The United States Navy Department has asked for new armaments to cost $1,004,000,000, while The World-Telegram observes that the State Department has informed the League of Nations that its military-naval expenditures for the year just ended—"the year of the $1,000,000,000 deficit"—amounted to $726,000,000. We then read:

President Hoover's official figures reveal that our military-naval cost jumped from only $266,000,000 pre-war to an annual average in the Coolidge administration of $618,000,000 and an estimated annual average in the Hoover administration of almost $780,000,000.

President Hoover in his budget message stated that seventeen cents in every dollar goes for new war preparations. Public debt charges—chiefly war costs—take twenty-six cents. And twenty-one cents is taken by pensions and veterans' relief.

Thus about two-thirds of the huge federal budget is eaten up by war charges. These are official figures; they cannot be ignored as propaganda. There is no chance of cutting the present and continuing cost of past wars. Only the armament cost which is provoking another war can be cut. If the taxpayers object to a $3,000,000,000 deficit, it is time for public pressure on the President and Congress.

Publication of these facts has been followed by an appeal from Senator Borah for a five-year naval building holiday. He thinks it would do more to promote world peace and economic recovery than anything else. His appeal is directed to his own country and to the other great naval powers. He agrees that "we all want disarmament; we all talk disarmament; now is the time to disarm." To which may be added, of course, that the best way to disarm is to disarm.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FRANCE AND GERMANY
The New York Evening Post

Any true progress toward Franco-German friendship depends fundamentally upon treaty revision. Although no definite information was forthcoming after the Paris talks last month, it was apparent that the French and the German statesmen, for all their show of cordiality, found the points at issue between their countries too complex for a quick settlement even under the pressure of financial crisis. Victorious France would preserve the fruits of victory and defeated Germany would recover full international equality.

QUIT TAIL-TWISTING

The Toronto Telegram

It is significant of a change in Anglo-American relations that the town of Yorkton, Va., should for four weeks have been the centre of a hot controversy over a pageant representing the surrender of Cornwallis to Washington 150 years ago. The anti element has objected on the ground that the production might offend the susceptibilities of the British. It is not long since twisting the lion's tail was a favorite sport among our neighbors to the south. In those days the pageant would have provided added satisfaction to 99 per cent of 100 per cent Americans by reason of the thought that it might cause the British lion to roar.

WANTS "MOUNTIES" BACK

The Halifax Herald

Why the "Mounties" were withdrawn from their drive against smuggling in Nova Scotia never has been explained to the satisfaction of the public. All the people know is that some one, somewhere, somehow had the influence or authority to secure or command this withdrawal. But while they are in the dark in this regard, the public are clear enough in their demand that the Mounted Police be brought back into Nova Scotia to resume this work from which they were taken. It is enough at the moment to say that there is no great confidence in the work of the preventive service—and that there is the most complete confidence in the Mounted Police.

Loose Ends

Wherein a confession is made—a cruel deception revealed—an account given—and a plea for consideration uttered.

By R. B. W.

WELL, UNHAPPY reader, I am back. Perhaps, in your trusting innocence, you imagined I was back two days ago when this column returned to a space which, for a blessed fortnight, was occupied by something more worthy. As usual, you have been the victim of a cruel deception. I am back only to-day, whatever the newspapers may say about it, and the stuff of the last two nights was written long ago, before I went away. Perhaps that is why it seemed so out of date and stale—and the fact that the foreman of the composing room had been carrying it around in his vest pocket for two weeks, along with that particular brand of cigars which composing room foremen smoke to keep people like me, from downstairs, out of the composing room. They are usually successful.

ANYWAY, FOR better or, more likely, for worse, I am back now in the flesh. In the mind at least, I have not been in the mind at all. In the mind I am still far away. Of course, you recognize this post-holiday feeling—the feeling that you have been away, out of touch, for ages, and that everything must have changed, probably for the worse, in your absence. As I always make it a practice to refuse absolutely to read a newspaper on my holidays, no matter how easily they may be obtained, I come back with a glorious ignorance of everything. As this is written I have no idea what has happened to British politics, which were in quite a state when I left, or whether civilization has survived my departure or not. And what a carefree feeling it is! There is absolutely nothing to worry about, and I feel if we could only fill the newspapers with stuff like this, and prevent them conveying any serious information, we should be a lot better off.

AFTER ALL this time away, I say, I have the feeling that tremendous unknown things must have occurred while I was making the wilderness. I have come back expecting the entire aspect of the city to have changed. I am surprised to find that moss has not grown all over the Parliament Buildings, if not all over the government. I should not doubt it, indeed, if you were to tell me that another government had been elected long ago on a programme of economy and selling the P.G.E. although I think even I in my rustic ignorance would be a little sceptical if you told me that such a programme had been carried out. Still, I am ready to believe almost anything—even that the City Council, faced with the difficulty of feeding human beings, had relieved itself of the necessity of feeding a little white bear, or that a morning paper had appeared without a picture of a cabinet minister. That is how innocent I have become in the great open spaces, where men are men and worms actually are not needed for bait.

WHETHER MORE than one person noted my absence or missed me I cannot say. The one person to whom I refer is a chap who wrote in my absence to wish me a good holiday and added, with a pathos which almost made me weep, that he pasted some quotation from this space over his household sink, so that he could ponder it every night when he helped to wash the dishes. (That kind of a man, I feel sure, would wash whether I were or not.) I cannot say whether this was a compliment or whether only one man was so interested in my departure. I mean, I do not know whether only one person in this great, teeming population, even noted that I was away, or whether the public's feelings towards me are so kind that it did not wish to ask me to hurry back to work, lonely and wretched as it was.

WHATEVER the public's feelings may be, I know it will be glad to hear that I have a surprise for it. I am not going to bore it with an account of my trip, great as is the temptation. I will only tell you that I have been away to the wilds with my usual companions, 100 fat worms from my garden and one fat journal from Vancouver, all of whom were let from my well used up by the time we fairly got out of the woods. To be precise, we went to Butte Lake, and I think I shall render a public service by saying that the trip to Butte Lake is not half so strenuous or difficult as I should like to be able to boast. It is only nine miles by an excellent trail from Bill Sutherland's cabin on Upper Campbell Lake, and if you have Bill Sutherland, the giant Scot, and his pack horse, you can walk it in three hours almost as easily as you can walk up your golf course. The sooner the public realizes this, instead of imagining that the trip to Butte is a hazardous adventure, the sooner the beauties of Strathcona Park will become appreciated and, perhaps, protected. Incidentally, though secretly I detest such a munificent argument, the sooner will Strathcona Park become a tremendous commercial asset to this island.

THESE REVELATIONS are made at a serious sacrifice, for personally I should much rather that you would not go to Butte Lake. I would much rather it were left entirely unvisited for me to enjoy alone. The presence of people there will not improve it. I intend, in fact, to return early next year and enjoy it in advance of your possible stampede which may follow this article. If I were not motivated, as always, by a high sense of public duty, I should tell you that the road is rough to Upper Campbell (which is true) and the trail beyond hard (which is not true), and I should try to keep the magnificence of Butte Lake for a few daring spirits like my journalistic friend from Vancouver, my words and myself.

"Does Last Longer"

A PIERCE SENSE of public duty, however, forces me to say that Butte Lake is perfectly placed now for the enjoyment of people who deserve to enjoy it. It is placed, I mean, so that you have to earn your enjoyment of it, and unworthy adventures, in plush-upholstered sedans, cannot get within nine miles of it. But for those who are not afraid to walk and sleep out in the open, I cannot imagine an easier, a less expensive, a more magnificent trip. I think it would be a good idea, indeed, if no road were ever built to Butte Lake, if Strathcona Park were kept permanently for people who really enjoy it, who will not pollute it with picnic lunches, gasoline and cigarette butts.

THIS, HOWEVER, is no time to discuss Strathcona Park or anything else. When I have become acclimatized again, when I have satisfied myself that no moss grows on the Parliament Buildings or on the government, that the white bear is still in prison, and the P.G.E. still the fact, I have accustomed myself again to the vital facts of civilization, perhaps I may say something more about Butte Lake which it is important for the public to know. Meanwhile I am spending all my time becoming accustomed to a civilized bed and a diet which is not composed exclusively of trout and canned beans.

Youth Is Deaf, Dumb and Blind; Going to College

Deaf, dumb and blind, yet he is going to take a course at the University of British Columbia. This is the story of Charlie Crane, twenty-five-year-old Vancouver boy, former student of the deaf, dumb and blind school in his home city. A sum of $600 has been contributed by the Provincial Government to enable Crane to take his university course, and the P.G.E. has agreed to add another $400. The youth was successful in all his matriculation examinations except algebra and geometry and will be permitted to attend the University of B.C. for a year. Again, may I stress, let every taxpayer and ratepayer see their names on the voters' list. It behooves us all to take a greater interest in the business management of our city.

WORKERS' UNION CONDEMNS PLAN TO BREAK STRIKE

Calgary, Sept. 16.—Condemnation of Canadian Defense Council decision to attempt "breaking" the coal miners' strike at Estevan, Sask., was contained in a resolution brought down at the annual meeting of the United Mine Workers of Canada to-day. James Sloan, president of the Mine Workers, criticized the action of the "Defenders" League which proposes to recruit 600 men and send them to Estevan to work the mines left idle by the miners' strike a week ago. Lewis Macdonald, president of the "Defenders" League, organized to stem the tide of communism and protect British subjects, is forming the battalion of 600 which he hoped to land in Estevan last Tuesday. The men will be gathered from Calgary and district and their work will be to carry on the mine operations until the miners' strike is ended. Mr. Sloan said the men would be cared for by his organization when their work was completed at Estevan, but he hoped that a number of them would remain in the coal fields. Mr. Macdonald emphasized that the men destined for Estevan were all British subjects. He reiterated his opposition to the plan of lowering wages or instigating "scabbing," but only to end the onward march of the communism which was causing discontent among workers. Members of the Mine Workers' Union, however, greatly resent the "Defenders' League" action. The union has been supporting the striking miners but the miners refuse to recognize the body of disunion conciliation efforts with it. Mr. Sloan has maintained that the strike would not end until the operators were willing to join a round table conference with union officials and miners.

THREE MINES START WORK
Estevan, Sask., Sept. 16.—Three mines in the Estevan coalfield, closed down since last Tuesday, started work this morning, some of them recruiting labor from the nearby harvest fields, others employing erstwhile strikers, tired of idleness. Three mines are still silent, but negotiations with the strike leaders are continuing and they expect to open down strike last Thursday. One mine, that operated by the Trust-Tracer Company, has never stopped work, being manned by non-union workers who are satisfied with conditions as they are.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:—In the issue of The Times of September 15, on page 13, there is an item, "Rescued Two From Sea in One Morning." This is not as it should be. I do not know about the first rescue. But in the second case I was in my boat by myself, rescued the young woman, took her to the point landing in my boat and told somebody to notify the police. Therefore Mr. Burrows of 584 Montreal Street, did not rescue the second case even if he did the first.

"WHY NOT A VICTORIAN"

To the Editor:—My previous letter calling for an explanation by the Board of Directors of the local Y.W.C.A. for withdrawing their patronage from a local architect and giving the business to a Vancouver firm, is still ignored by them, although two other citizens have registered their protest through your columns. Indifference of this nature is not in the best interests of the institution and will be reflected in financial returns when the appeal is launched. What confidence can other interested business houses have in a board of this nature? Will they stipulate Vancouver would be in keeping with their previous near-sighted policy? As this is the board of the Y.W.C.A. to come out with a clear statement why they discriminate against local professional men, and whether they propose using local building products and labor.

A FIASCO

To the Editor:—Louis B. Lemoine's letter in your issue of the 1st inst., fairly hits the nail on the head in his description of the manner in which both the Dominion and Provincial Governments are making a fiasco out of the unemployment crisis. Mr. Lemoine's name would indicate that he originally came from the Province of Quebec, where provincial surplus are the rule and not the exception; in fact, the last time that Quebec has been in the neighborhood of $600,000—without the aid of a special revenue tax, so popular (?) in this province. Of course it must be acknowledged that Quebec is somewhat backward in the matter of surveys in comparison with British Columbia. However, surveys cost less than construction, and are equally as valuable as the job and snow roads to be built, during the coming fall and winter under the Bennett-Toume programme. This class of road has one advantage in that it can be rebuilt every fall and winter, which, I presume, is the Bennett idea of a cure for unemployment.

JAMES MCLEOD MOORE,

REGISTER NOW!

To the Editor:—May I through your paper bring to the notice of taxpayers, especially those who pay poll-tax, that in order to vote at the coming municipal elections, it will be necessary for them to register, for which the time limit is October 31. I would advise them to go to the City Hall and attend to this matter themselves, instead of waiting for the collector to call. The old maxim stands good, "If you want a thing done do it your own way." Last year I found on election day many disappointed taxpayers who had failed to register. And, Mr. Editor, I wonder if the necessity of registering to vote is not a necessary evil which could not be overcome. I should think if taxpayers produced receipts at the polls for the current year's tax, this should be sufficient guarantee that they were qualified. Again, may I stress, let every taxpayer and ratepayer see their names on the voters' list. It behooves us all to take a greater interest in the business management of our city.

A PUZZLE

To the Editor:—I was on the ferry to Port Angeles the other day where all the stores were filled with supplies of peaches for sale at 35 to 40 cents a crate. I asked if this were not a special price, and learned that it has been the regular retail price for peaches throughout Washington and the coast since the season started.

Back in Victoria now at the height of the peach season, the first peaches are selling at $2.50 a crate. The price at $1.50 and $2.00 a crate. Why should the price be so high? Of all reason and that they have been forced up by new tariff regulations put up by Premier Bennett. Why conditions should be such that we in Victoria have to pay five times as much for peaches as persons living as much as fifteen miles across the Strait of Georgia would like to know. Why should the government force us to pay prices to unheard of levels when the price of everything else is "way down" and consumers find the going hard?

What is to be done about it?
HOUSEHOLDER.

TENDERS FOR CAREY ROAD HIGH SCHOOL

To the Editor:—In The Times issue of September 9 reference was made to the above matter. James Tomes, who suggested that the board hold a secret session to consider the tenders, as he was apprehensive that the bids might be far above the money available.

This admission on the part of Trustee Tomes opens up a serious question, and as the ratepayers are very naturally concerned, I think that the Board of School Trustees should be called upon to give an account of their stewardship by publishing an itemized statement of the expenditures to date in connection with these three high schools, to include:

Original cost of land for each school, amount of land purchased for each school, cost of surveys, cost of clearing, cost of well digging, cost of fencing, cost of buildings already let, cost of alterations, legal expenses, architects' fees in detail, experts fees re sites, and other incidentals, all to be shown separately. We were told by Reeve Crouch over the air and from the platform, that taxes would not be increased by reason of the building of these schools.

PENSIONS FOR BLIND SOUGHT

Delegation Asks B.C. Government to Support National Appeal

Support of the British Columbia Government to a plea for national pensions for the blind was sought by a delegation representing the British Columbia division of the Canadian Federation for the Blind which called at the Parliament Buildings yesterday. Several other problems of the blind were also discussed and consideration was promised. A reorganization of teaching facilities so that blind and deaf persons would not be taught in the same classrooms was requested. A grant was asked in support of the boarding house and other activities of the federation at Pandora Park, Vancouver. It was suggested the government call a conference of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, the Canadian Federation of the Blind and provincial representatives to consider setting up an advisory board to guide blind welfare work within the province. Mrs. E. Scott, a graduate of the Montreal School for the Blind; D. B. Lawley, an ex-mining student blinded in a mine in 1928; and Miss Mary Clark composed the delegation. Mrs. Scott is executive secretary of the British Columbia division of the federation, and Mr. Lawley, Dominion through secretary of the same organization.

Brentwood College Will Install New Pulpit on Sunday

The new pulpit for the chapel at Brentwood College will be installed today, and it is expected that a number of visitors will be present at ceremony. The pulpit is of oak, and stands well over feet. It is the work of T. Haddon Smith, who has been in charge of the Brentwood Chapel construction, through the generosity of a Victoria family has been able to construct one of the finest pulpits in the city. A Gothic pattern is evident in the pulpit, which is built of South American oak, and undoubtedly the hand-carving will be much admired. The installation ceremony Sunday will be presided over by Headmaster H. P. Hope.

Bound Body Of Ben P. Collings Is Found Afloat

Oyster Bay, N.Y., Sept. 15.—The body of Benjamin P. Collings, Stamford, Conn., engineer, floated to the surface at Lloyd's Neck, Long Island, early to-day. His hands and feet were bound. There was an injury to his head. Collings' body floated to the surface at the exact spot where four boatmen found the cruiser "Penguin" drifting unattended with Collings' five-year-old daughter, Barbara, aboard. Mrs. Collings, who for six days had been questioned about the mysterious disappearance of her husband, said he had been tossed in the Sound waters by two strange men who boarded her yacht. Police declared the finding of his body evidently backed that theory. An immediate general alarm was sent out for two men, one about fifty, the other a youth of eighteen, who Mrs. Collings said had thrown her husband into the water.

GIRL BARITONE IS RADIO "FIND"

Former Mill Worker Selected From Audition of Over 200 Singers

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—A demure girl from Pawtucket, who went to work amid the clattering noise of a cotton mill when she was fourteen years old to help support a fatherless family, walked primly through the bustling office of broadcasting station WNAC recently. She was selected from 200 persons who appeared for an audition on a single day as a real radio "find" on account of her rich, full baritone voice.

Among her own circle of friends in Pawtucket, Bertha LeMieux has enjoyed a reputation as an exceptionally fine singer for years. Recently she was persuaded to sing weekly over station WPAW. In keeping with her role as an old-fashioned girl, Miss LeMieux has no real affection for jazz music but as it may be necessary to sing numbers of this character in her future programmes she is willing to accept it. Ballads are her favorite, and she also likes French folk songs.

It is difficult to tell Miss LeMieux's voice from a rich-lone male baritone when it goes out over the air. But strangely enough her conversational voice is girlish and decidedly feminine. She doesn't attempt to explain this and became flushed and self-conscious when asked if she could "talk deep" like a man. She didn't try.

Her voice is rich and clear, entirely lacking in the cold strained quality that usually marks the impersonation of a male singer. The young woman herself is twenty-five years old and has a decidedly feminine charm with none of the "professional" mannerisms.

Politely and shyly she explained that she was one of eight children and because her father died when she was ten years old she had to go to work as soon as she finished grammar school. She always enjoyed singing and hummed at her work in the "reel room" of the big yarn mill, but didn't dare sing out loud. A long time ago she had eight singing lessons but this instruction proved too expensive to be continued.

British Nurse Inoculated 1,000 Arabs in a Day

A British girl nurse has established what is claimed to be a record for women by inoculating in one day 1,000 desert Arabs against cholera at Basrah, Iraq.

As a result of the serious outbreak of cholera, thousands of Arabs from the surrounding country are swarming in for inoculation. When the dispensaries close, crowds wait through the night until they reopen. British doctors and nurses are doing magnificent work. One of the dispensary orderlies made 1,500 inoculations in one day. The health authorities have now checked the violence of the outbreak. The personnel of the R.A.F. was isolated and has suffered no cases.

Prize Piper Will Play at I.O.D.E. Tea At Mrs. Howe's

Piper John Duncan, one of the prize winning pipers of the recent Highland festival at Banff, will render selections at the tea which is to be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Howe, 1009 Beach Drive, on Friday afternoon under the auspices of the Margaret Rocks Robertson Chapter, I.O.D.E., from 3:30 until 4 o'clock.

During the afternoon Mrs. Sydney Oliver, regent of the chapter, will contribute vocal solos, with Miss Eileen Dunlop on the piano, and Mrs. Scott will read poems.

The layettes which the chapter has made, under the convener'ship of Mrs. A. Mackenzie, for the Red Cross turning outposts at Grand Haven, Peace River, will be on display during the afternoon.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. To Hold Debate

St. John's A.Y.P.A. held their first business meeting and social Monday evening in the new A.Y.P.A. room.

Miss C. J. Harvey gave a report on the council meeting held last Friday evening. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Hawkins for her kindness in making and fixing up the curtains for the new A.Y.P.A. room. The programme for the coming year was read and discussed. S. C. Hawkins gave a short talk on the coming Dominion conference to be held in October in Regina.

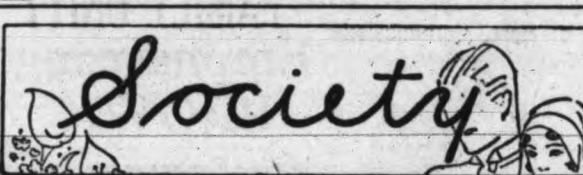

Next Monday evening a debate between Jim Macdonald and H. Bowden and Reg. Macdonald and C. J. Harvey will take place in the A.Y.P.A. room. The topic for the debate will be: "Resolved, that motion pictures are more injurious than helpful."

Refreshments, which were prepared by Margaret Dalby and Lenora Tucker, brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

WHITNEY HEIR AND BRIDE-TO-BE

The engagement of Cornelius Vanderbilt (Sonny) Whitney, heir to one of the United States' greatest fortunes, and Miss Gladys Crosby Hopkins of Stratford, Pa., has been announced. Here they are pictured together at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. It will be Whitney's second marriage.

Society

Miss Dorothy Givens of Vancouver is visiting in the city, the guest of Miss Aileen Cullum.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Garner of Duncan will leave for the last few months, have left for their home in Winnipeg.

GIVES $5,000 TO HER HOME TOWN

Once a Liability to West Stockbridge, Woman Makes Gift From Legacy

West Stockbridge, Mass., Sept. 16.—Miss Nellie Gray was seventy-two years old, crippled, and living on the town when she inherited a brother's fortune of $70,000. Miss Gray gave $5,000 to West Stockbridge towards the construction of a bridge across the Williams River, restored the old Gray homestead and has decided that her personal wants will not exceed the purchase of a few new dresses.

"I am too old now to do much with the money," Miss Gray confessed rather sadly. "If I could have had it when I was young I could have done a lot of things. But when you get as old as I am there is nothing to do, even if you have money."

Her greatest joy at present is the knowledge that the town of West Stockbridge has accepted her unusual gift, the first of its kind in the country. "I am so happy they took the money," said Miss Gray, who was considerably surprised to learn that news of her gift to the town had made her a celebrity in this section overnight. Lifting her head proudly, she added in a rather wistful voice, "I won't be called the town pauper now."

For seventy-two years, since she was ten months old, Miss Gray has been a helpless invalid. Despite her affliction, she is a very cheerful person with a ready smile. Since her sister died twenty-five years ago, leaving Miss Gray the last survivor of one of the first Irish families to settle down here, she has been dependent on the town for aid until her younger brother was killed in a railroad accident two years ago. He left an estate of $70,000, of which Miss Gray came into possession a month or so ago.

To Teach Women To Become Heads Of Orchestras

London, Sept. 16.—The art of wielding a baton will be taught by practical demonstration to a party of men and women orchestra and band conductors from towns and villages all over England when in November they attend the first school for conductors ever arranged in London.

It will last three days, and is being promoted jointly by the National Federation of Women's Institutes, the National Council of Social Service, and the British Federation of Musical Competition Festivals.

The pupils will include more women than men. "There is no doubt that the development of music among country-folk and town-folk is being seriously hindered by the absence of would-be conductors," said Dr. Adrian Bousfield, the conductor and musical director of the British Broadcasting Corporation, who will preside over the school.

"Their lack of knowledge makes them too panicky to stand up and conduct. We are going to show them that the art of simple conducting can be quickly learned."

August, Captain Myddleton is in the Coldstream Guards.

A marriage of interest to many in Victoria is taking place to-day in Westfield, Wis., when Miriam Bancroft, daughter of the late Joseph and Mrs. Bancroft of Wolfville, N.S., becomes the bride of Carlisle Smith Beale, D.I.C. CANNOT FORCE PUBLIC HEALTH

Co-operation Not Compulsion Only Means, Says Dr. Helen MacMurchy

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 16.—It was once thought possible to placard, police, quarantine and legislate people into public health but it has been learned that these methods are useless and that co-operation rather than compulsion is the proper means, declared Dr. Helen MacMurchy, chief of the Division of Child Welfare, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa, yesterday. Dr. MacMurchy addressed the child hygiene section of the American Public Health Association in convention here.

Maternity was never so safe as modern care can make it to-day, she said, showing by statistics how infant mortality had been reduced in England and Wales from a rate of 107 per thousand in the period of 1880-1900 to 66 per thousand in 1930. She declared the pre-natal care is the great preventive of infant mortality.

"It is against the public interest for any municipality to reduce its grants for public health nursing," Dr. MacMurchy said.

"We are beginning to realize that everything depends on resistance to disease—what the doctors used to call 'having a good constitution,' and that this is obtained by good food, plenty of exercise, fresh air and more fresh air."

"Respiratory diseases slay thousands of babies and pre-school children. All these come from the so-called common cold. The person with a cold should stay in bed. Death reaps his harvest in the field of children under five."

There isn't any argument about the child's need for a good breakfast. After hours without food, he is in no position to go another day without breakfast. The growing child needs a glass of fruit juice or a dish of cooked fruit, a bowlful of hot cereal with top milk or thin cream and sugar, and two slices of thin, buttered toast with his cup of warm milk or cocoa. He needs all of that as a foundation for the work of the long morning. If we can make this most interesting to him, he may even acquire the habit of eating egg or bacon besides.

It is better to waken the child at least one and one-quarter hours before he must depart for school. This allows

HOW CAN WE MAKE SCHOOL CHILD HUNGRY FOR BREAKFAST?

The opening guns of that morning battle have already been fired in many households. First comes the sharp persistent "rat-tat-tat" of, "You must eat some of your breakfast," followed by the invariable retort, "I'm not hungry."

Possibly the child sincerely proclaims that he doesn't want anything to eat. Throughout the summer he has been scampering downstairs and outdoors, running about until his appetite is blooming. In the winter his mother lets him sleep until the last possible moment. He rushes through his dressing, and comes downstairs only half awake. He is nervous for fear he will be tardy, and on top of this he is supposed to eat a hearty breakfast. No wonder he rebels.

IMPORTANT
There isn't any argument about the child's need for a good breakfast. After hours without food, he is in no position to go another day without breakfast. The growing child needs a glass of fruit juice or a dish of cooked fruit, a bowlful of hot cereal with top milk or thin cream and sugar, and two slices of thin, buttered toast with his cup of warm milk or cocoa. He needs all of that as a foundation for the work of the long morning. If we can make this most interesting to him, he may even acquire the habit of eating egg or bacon besides.

It is better to waken the child at least one and one-quarter hours before he must depart for school. This allows twenty minutes for dressing, fifteen for tasks to be performed in the morning, twenty minutes for breakfast, and twenty for his toilet habits. If he dresses slowly, let him slip his orange juice during this ceremony. This puts his stomach in a mood hospitable to more food. Let him perform his morning tasks before breakfast. Then he will be wider awake and hungrier when he does come to the table.

CHILD LIKES VARIETY, SURPRISES
If his appetite is very small, offer small portions of food so that he can finish them easily. Then add a bit more to the portions each morning until he is able to manage full-sized servings.

Divide slices of toast into buttery, golden triangles. They are easier to hold and eat and, for some reason, seem less like toast than big, unwieldy slices.

Vary the types of cereal. Four or five boxes are no more difficult to keep on hand than one. Cook a different kind each morning. Most adults become accustomed to breakfasts that are invariably the same, but children enjoy variety. The chances of eating heartily are increased when each breakfast has some element of surprise.

Our leaflet on "Wholesome Breakfasts for the School Child," may suggest some combinations which have not occurred to the mother. Any mother may obtain this leaflet by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with her request to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

T-morrow—"Mother Should Not Start Rocking Habit."

Says Victoria Safe City For Women At Nights

Molestation Almost Unheard of Here, Commissioner Declares

Complaint of Man in Letter to Press Answered at Board Meeting

Whether the streets of Victoria are safer for women at nights, what to do about "mashers," and a few other things about the city's morals, were involved in a discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Police Commission.

It was introduced when Commissioner Andrew McGavin queried the chief about a letter written to the press by G. B. Scott regarding a fine imposed by the gentleman for parking his car in front of a hydrant.

The chief indignantly denied allegations in the letter that his subordinates were not allowed to use their own judgment in regard to leniency with traffic offenders. He explained that the gentleman in question had come to the police station after his car was tagged and had paid a fine to the acting chief, who turned it into the court.

"It amounts to this. Did the gentleman break the law?" asked the Mayor.

"He did," the chief said. "In most places parking by a fire hydrant is contrary to regulations."

"There was also remark about women being molested in the streets. As far as I'm concerned, I do not think there is a safer city in Canada for women after dark," said Commissioner McGavin. "It's something a most unheeded of for a woman to be molested here."

"How about men who follow young women in cars and invite them to go for a ride?" said Mrs. North. "I think a few of them should be fined as a warning."

"That's only young boys on Sunday nights," supplemented Commissioner McGavin.

NORTH SAANICH DRAMATIC SOCIETY HAS CHANGED NAME

The North Saanich Dramatic Society met recently in St. Augustine's Hall, Deep Cove, and changed the name of the society to the North Saanich Little Theatre Association.

Also a number of people not residing in North Saanich have expressed interest in the society. A meeting will be held shortly in South Saanich to give any who may wish to join an opportunity to do so.

Two plays were selected for production during the coming season. Colin Frame gave a very interesting reading of one of them, the roles being afterwards allotted by Mrs. Beese Burns to various members for the preliminary reading. Mrs. Burns announced that a third play would be chosen to complete the programme.

Remove Blackheads; Reduce Large Pores in Single Treatment

Edna Wallace Hopper, "The One Woman in the World Who Never Grew Old," discloses another of her startling youth revelations

SO many young women have asked me how to get rid of blackheads and reduce large pores.

My answer is, "Purge the pores." Use a laxative on your skin just as you would use a laxative on your system.

I know most of you didn't know you could do this. That you're surprised such a thing can be done. But it can. And very simply and quickly. Often in a single treatment.

What you use to do it is White Youth Pack. A preparation I found out about years ago in Paris.

I never let a week go by without using it myself. Once every week I purge my pores. I wish you could look at my skin and see the result. There's not a line, not a blemish on my face. My skin's as young, as fresh as it was when I was 16.

I brought the formula of White Youth Pack back from Paris. I had my name put on it so you'd know you were getting the same thing I use. It is called Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Pack or Clay. The one made from the original French formula. That does away with blackheads and large pores in a single treatment.

You can get it at any toilet counter. The whole treatment takes only a few minutes' time. Full directions come with every tube.

Little Broom Gives Fine Example of a Race Horse in Form

Barrie Oliver Proves His Right to Champion Distance Runner

Jack Sharkey After Friend Schmeling Through Ernie Schaaf

Contract With Madison Garden Disastrous to Giant Campolo

ONE of the finest examples of real form in horse racing was given during the meet at the Willows and Colwood by Little Broom, speedy six-year-old gelding, who won five straight races. This thoroughbred established a record for local racing as he captured five first places in seven days. He scored his first victory at the Willows and then went on to win straight at the Colwood oval. The horse was in wonderful condition and in every case his victory was decisive. Little Broom was one of the biggest winners on B.C. tracks this season, although Lady Spain captured five races earlier in the season, but they were not successive wins.

To-day two of the boys in the office who consider themselves good at figures, got their heads together and figured out how much a $2 win bet on Little Broom for his first race and parlayed on him for his next four performances would have brought back. They reported that the winnings would be $474.16. Not a bad price for an investment of $2.

When he romped home Monday five lengths in front of a crowd of 200, Barrie Oliver proved his right to the title of champion long distance runner of British Columbia tracks this season. Out of the five two-mile events he competed in this summer Barrie won three and finished second in the other two. In the opening two-mile at Hastings he lost by two and a half lengths to Nannie Frances. Although he was beaten by twelve lengths by Rapids, giving her four pounds. At Brighouse he came back to take a neck decision from Rapids, with a six-pound advantage in weights, and then captured the two long distance events at the Willows and Colwood. In winning the Colwood race Barrie Oliver shattered the track record, his time being 3:32.2. The former mark of 3:34.4-5 was held by Shadow Spark.

Jack Sharkey says: "I may never get another crack at Ernie Schaaf, but I'll punch Max right out of the picture." With seven straight knockouts to his credit, Ernie is the sensation of the moment in the heavyweight ranks. Jack Sharkey and Johnny Buckley are his managers. Sharkey has spent months coaching and teaching him, and has won him in his fights. Schaaf fought Campolo along, battle lines laid out by Sharkey.

Before the fight Sharkey predicted that Schaaf would win by a knockout in seven or eight rounds. Ernie won the huge Argentinean down and got him ready for the knockout, and slipped it over in the seventh. At that time it wasn't exactly a one-punch knockout, although Campolo didn't get up. The final punch wasn't the hardest, but was perfectly placed. Sharkey knows as much about fighting as any man. He lacks some fighting detail that has kept him from becoming a champion, but Schaaf seems to have everything needed.

Campolo has been a hard luck fighter. He has been tied up with a contract giving Madison Square Garden exclusive control of his services as a fighter. The Garden probably promised him plenty of action and money. But he was sidetracked. He had good offers from other promoters, and the Garden wouldn't let him take them. The Garden promised him better fights, and they didn't materialize. Disgusted, he went back to the Argentine. After a long time he returned, and on his first venture bumped into Ernie Schaaf—a fighter who has been kept busy fighting every month or so, and who is improving with every fight and very near the top of the heavyweight class. Campolo has plenty of natural ability, but he has had so few matches in the ring that he hasn't been developed. If he will go around the country taking on every match he can get, learning with experience, he may yet give the best lot of trouble. He has plenty of heart.

Hans Wagner, recently playing astonishingly good baseball in an exhibition match with other old-timers, shows that he is old only in years. What a ball player he was! And how he lived to play the game, and the best game that was in him. They used to tell a story about Hans. A cigarette manufacturer wanted to get Wagner to endorse his brand of cigarettes, and induced a newspaper friend of Wagner's to approach him. The writer was offered $10 as a bonus if he could get Wagner's endorsement. He explained the deal to Hans, and brought out the paper with the dotted line. Hans stuck his hand into his pocket, pulled out a $10 bill, and offered it to the reporter.

"I don't want you to lose that," he said, "but I wouldn't lend my name to get kids to smoke cigarettes for all the money in the world."

B.C.F.A. To Make Ruling Governing All Clubs In B.C.

Provincial Organization Will Decide Whether Teams in British Columbia Will Be Given Opportunity to Try New Plan; Victoria Leagues Can Refuse to Use Subs Even if Parent Body Places O.K. on it; Local Opinion on Latest Move is Divided.

With the opening of the 1931-32 football season just around the corner the main topic of discussion among players, fans and officials is substitutes. Since the Dominion of Canada Football Association at its recent annual meeting in Regina passed a motion giving provincial organizations the right to allow the leagues under their jurisdiction to use substitutes, Victoria supporters of the round ball game are wondering just what action will be taken in British Columbia.

FOUR LEADING STARS BEATEN IN P.G.A. GOLF

Hagen, Diegel, Dudley and Farrell Go Down to Defeat in Opening Round

Billy Burke, U.S. Open Champion, Wins Easily; Armour Beats Kirkwood

Providence, R.I., Sept. 16.—Sixteen survivors in the Professional Golfers' Association championship tournament, one of the stiffest competitions in golf, to-day faced another punishing 36-hole match play test, which has already caused the downfall of four of America's brightest stars.

Tommy Armour, defending champion, will play Walter Murray, Valparaiso, Ind., and the draw pitted Billy Burke, the open champion, against Bob Crowley, Haverhill, Mass.

One of the keenest struggles of the day was expected to result when Willie Masarik, 1929 open champion, clashed with Horton Smith, sensation several years ago. Pete O'Hara, a top Irishman from Verona, Pa., who put the great Walter Hagen to death for a sparkling 4 and 3 victory, was down to match strokes with Tommy Greavy, youthful pro from Albany, N.Y.

SARAZEN MEETS RUYAN
Gene Sarazen, who has been P.G.A. champion twice, will meet Paul Ruyan, White Plains, N.Y., in the second round.

Accompanying Hagen into the discard were Leo Diegel, another two-time P.G.A. winner, Johnny Farrell and Ed Dudley, recent winner of the western open.

Yesterday Diegel, Detroit, P.G.A. champion in 1928 and 1929, gave "Wild" Bill Mehlhorn, New York, a bang-up battle for the late holes. Bill, however, stopped his streak by sinking a pair of long putts for birdies to clinch his 3 and 2 decision.

Another star fell when Johnny Farrell, Manronce, N.Y., bowed out on the thirty-sixth green to Jim Foulis, Chicago, 2 up.

Another titleholder bit the dust when Cyril Walker, Ridgewood, N.J., defeated Ed. Dundy, Concordville, Penn., 5 and 4. Dudley recently won the western open.

Tommy Armour, the defending champion, after being held even by Joe Kirkwood, for eighteen holes, cut loose in the afternoon with some par golf that enabled him to defeat the transplanted Australian by a 2 and 1 margin.

HURLEY WINS EASILY
This year's open titlist, Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., was not pushed by Dave Hackney, Lambton, Mass. Burke ended the match on the thirty-third hole, where he sank a birdie to become 5 up, and 2 to go.

Gene Sarazen, another two-time P.G.A. winner and the leading contender for Armour's title, defeated Al Simpson, Chicago, on the twenty-third, 9 up.

Willie McFarlane, Tuckano, N.Y., blasted out a 3 and 2 victory over Henry Cotel, Stratford, Conn. Horton Smith, Detroit, laced Walter Bernish, Geneseo, N.Y., 7 and 6.

BATTALINO IN DECISIVE WIN

Takes Eight Out of Ten Rounds From Eddie Shea in Bout at Hartford

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 16.—Bat Battalino, world's featherweight champion, yesterday evening decisively defeated Eddie Shea, Chicago, in a ten-round non-title fight.

It was the second time they met. Referee Billy Conway's score card gave Battalino every round but the first and the third. He gave the first as an even round and the third to Shea.

The fate of substitution in this province rests with the B.C.F.A. The provincial organization is expected to call an executive meeting within a few days, at which the matter will be discussed. No doubt there will be a division of opinion and it would be a difficult task to forecast what decision will be reached. Should the B.C.F.A. go on record in favor of substitutes no doubt every league in the province will take advantage of the new rule.

ALL RESTS WITH B.C.F.A. The Pacific Coast League at a recent meeting voted in favor of substitutes, but it will have to abide by the rule of the parent body. Should the B.C.F.A. pass in favor of the new plan, Victoria teams will likely use substitutes this season. Although it would not be necessary for the local teams to fall in line they would be handicapped if they stayed with the old order while Vancouver clubs availed themselves of the extra players. The handicap would be quite noticeable in intercity matches.

As far as local officials are concerned a number of them are in favor of substitutes but others are opposed. Some of the old-timers consider the plan as a revolutionary move. The main objection of many appears to be that the new rule might be abused.

One official in discussing the question to-day declared he would be in favor of substitutes if they were used only in the case of a player being injured on the field.

Local leagues have not made any decisions as to whether or not they will favor the plan. Victoria officials are waiting to see what action the B.C.F.A. takes before making any comment.

Although substitutes will not be permitted in the Connaught Cup series, which determines the Canadian championship, it is thought that substitutes will be used this season throughout practically every province in the Dominion.

Leading authorities agree the new plan is a big step forward from former procedure, but they figure it is a move towards speeding up and popularizing the game.

C. RETZLAFF PUTS STANTON OUT IN FOURTH

Young Duluth Heavyweight Scores Third-first Knockout in Thirty-six Bouts

Right Uppercut to Chin Ends Bout; Jimmy Russell, Vancouver, Loses to Hamas

New York, Sept. 16.—Charley Retzlaff, young Duluth heavyweight, who suffered his first eastern setback in his last fight, came back yesterday evening to knock out Gene Stanton, Cleveland, in the fourth round of their ten-round bout at the Queensborough Stadium yesterday evening.

The knockout came after a minute and seventeen seconds of fighting in the fourth. Retzlaff weighed 195½, Stanton 177½.

Retzlaff brought his record up to thirty-one knockouts in thirty-six contests. Stanton did not land a hard wallop all through the fight, while Retzlaff sparred cautiously through the first three rounds until he found the opening he sought in the fourth and put over a right uppercut to the chin for the deciding blow.

A POWERFUL RIGHT
Stanton tried in vain to reach Retzlaff, who had a big advantage in a longer reach, but the best he could do was to land a few light left jabs. Retzlaff rocked him a couple of times in the second and third rounds with his powerful right to prepare the way for the killing.

Steve Hamas, Passaic, N.J., former Penn State College athlete, knocked out Jimmy Russell, Vancouver, after only a minute and fifteen seconds of the first round in the semi-final, also scheduled as a ten-rounder. Russell substituted for Pat Hayward. Hamas weighed 194½, Russell 184½.

Game Hudkins Takes Heavyweight Honors

Spots Dynamite Jackson Over Thirty Pounds to Lift California Championship

Wins Five Rounds to Jackson's Three; Negro Has Both Eyes Cut and Nose Battered

Los Angeles, Sept. 16.—Ace Hudkins, a middleweight in size, but possessor of the heart of a giant, to-day is heavyweight champion of California.

The Nebraska, who fought them as they came as a lightweight, welterweight and middleweight, spotted Dynamite Jackson, Santa Monica, Calif., negro, thirty-one and a half pounds to a ten-round decision. A packed house of 10,250, the first in many a moon, paid $17,000 to see the gory battle.

Lieutenant Jack Kennedy credited Ace with five rounds against three for Jackson. It was the same referee who threw Hudkins from the ring in his appearance here a year ago for stalling, but it was a different story yesterday evening.

The Lincoln, Neb., wildcat consistently stepped inside the negro's guard to fall away to the body and head. As early as the second, Jackson's eyes were cut and his nose bleeding.

As tired toward the end, but manacled to absorb the Santa Monica's so-called dynamite rights to gain the nod.

DEMPSEY MAULS FOUR FIGHTERS IN EXHIBITION

Former Heavyweight Champ Has Easy Time With Opponents at Rock Springs

Sailor Jack Smith Only Knock-out Victim: Bud Doyle Gives Jack Best Workout

Rock Springs, Wyo., Sept. 16.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, pushed four opponents about the ring at will in an exhibition bout here yesterday evening.

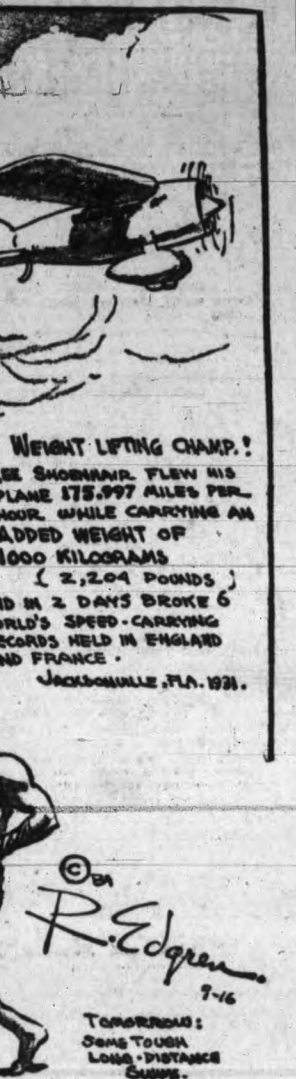

Sailor Jack Smith, California, was the only knockout victim. He rushed the ex-champion to the ropes in the opening, but thirty seconds later was back on the foot.

Joe Ferguson, 195, Salt Lake ring veteran, tried to carry the fight to the mauler but finished the fight trying to ride Dempsey around the ring to keep from going down for the count.

TAKES MAULING
Del Baxter, 193, Cornish, Utah, who stayed two rounds with Dempsey in Salt Lake City Monday night, took a mauling.

Italian Bud Doyle gave Dempsey the best go of the evening in their two-round session. Doyle carried the fight to Dempsey and for two rounds the infighting was fast and furious. Doyle apparently rocking the ex-champion twice in the first and three times in the second.

Canadian Fighters Given Recognition In Latest Ranking

Jimmy McLarnin, Larry Gains and Steve Rocco Given Places by National Boxing Association; McLarnin Placed Fourth in Welterweight Division; Gains Ranked Seventh Among Heavyweights, While Rocco Places Eighth Among Flyweights; All Classes Ranked.

Canadian Press

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16.—Larry Gains, Jimmy McLarnin and Steve Rocco are three Canadian ring men whose performances came to the attention of the National Boxing Association at that body's convention here yesterday.

Gains, whose latest battles have been in European rings, was ranked seventh in the heavyweight list behind such notables as Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Tommy Loughran, Ernie Schaaf, Mickey Walker and William Stribling.

McLarnin, an outstanding challenger for the welterweight crown of Jackie Thompson, was awarded no better than fourth ranking, preceded by Thompson, Lou Brouillard and Young Corbett.

Steve Rocco, Toronto flyweight, was placed eighth in the ranking behind the recognized champion, Frankie Genaro, Midget Wolgast, the Philadelphia speedster who has often performed in Canadian rings and is recognized in many parts as the titleholder, secured only fourth ranking by the N.B.A. Mogul.

The ranking committee's report, which was adopted, retained the rating of Jack Sharkey, Boston, as the most likely contender for the world heavyweight title, held by Max Schmeling. Germany, and placed Tommy Loughran third on the list. The association recommended the formation of an international committee to approve or reject contestants for world champion titles, favored American tournaments in all classes to choose contenders, and went on record as favoring the repeal of the federal law prohibiting the transportation of fight films. Baltimore was chosen for the 1932 national convention.

SCHAFF FORTH
The championship committee placed Ernie Schaaf, protege of Sharkey, fourth on the heavyweight list, with Mickel Walker, W. L. Stribling, Larry Gains, Charley Retzlaff, Tuffy Griffiths and Hein Mueller, of Germany, following in order.

Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, is ranked fourth in the welterweights, with champion Lou Thompson rated at the top of the list.

Karl D. Malone, Kentucky commissioner, expressed the belief that Carnera was on the association's suspension list and he should not be ranked.

Steve Hamas, a promising heavyweight a year ago, was dropped from tenth to fourteenth position, and Paulino Uzcudun, ninth in the August ranking, was lowered to eighteen place.

ROSENBLUM ON TOP
The association voted Maxie Rosenbloom, recently removed by the association from the light-heavyweight title as No. 1 contender in that class, George Manley, Colorado boxer, was placed No. 2 in the list.

Following Manley in order were Jimmy Stanley, Lou Scoones, Bill Jones, Joe Bonovic, Joe Knight, Bob Goodwin, Owen Phelps and Al Gainer. Battling Boco, ranked fifth in August, was reported no longer able to make the weight.

The middleweight title also was declared vacant, with Gorilla Jones being ranked No. 1. Frankie Borjok, Harry Smith, Vince Dundee, Frankie O'Brien, Tiger Thomas, Jack Hood (England), Marcel Tili (France), Dave Shade, Angel Clivelle (Porto Rico) and George Nichols, Vinny Dundee, followed.

Canadian Rugby Squad Shaping Up For First Game FREE

Coach Doug Roberts Is Lining Up Players To Meet Royal City

Tusky Line Picked by California Mentor For Battle on September 30; Eight Experienced Players Will be Backbone of Local Squad; Prospects Working Out Regularly Every Night; Expect Tough Going in Opening Matches.

Rounding into shape with a series of secret evening workouts at the Royal Athletic Park, Victoria's entry in the Big Four Canadian Rugby League will be ready for New Westminster's machine when they clash under the flood lights of Vancouver's Athletic Park on the last day of this month, according to Doug Roberts, coach, who is now grooming the local boys for the tussle.

TIFF PLAY IN GOLF AT JASPER PARK

With Annual Totem Pole Tournament Draws Entry List of Notable Players

Canadian Stars Make Serious Bid to Bring Famous Trophy Back to Home Soil

Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., Sept. 15.—With one day's play completed in the sixth annual Totem Pole golf championship here today the lights are beginning to tighten up and from Wednesday on stiff golf will be the order of the day.

The course was in splendid playing condition yesterday and some excellent results were recorded. So many new players here this year that it is hard to get a real line on their play, but generally speaking those favored to win the first-round game through on Clark Starkey, Edmonton, medalist, continued his steady golf by disposing of B. Switzer, Vancouver, 7 and 6. Ray Smith, the round with a 6, a score of 78 with two birdies. Canadian favorites to win were: Bell, Calgary, who disposed of Jones, Vancouver, 4 and 2, and Newhall, Calgary, who beat C. E. Y., a strong player from Portland, Vancouver, put McKay White-Vancouver, out of the running, 6 and 4. P. P. Foster, Vancouver, scored an excellent 70, and won over 2 and 1, the match going to the victor's hole and Ben Cool, Vancouver, advanced over Rolloe Mac-Winnipeg.

The question here now is whether Totem Pole will return to the U.S. as one of the Canadian players is expected to be back to Canada. The U.S. has very strong representation and they all low handicap men and good players. U.S. players in the championship are Paul Pigott, and Ted Smith, Seattle, Phil Shaffer, Chicago, H. F. Prince, Los Angeles. All players from a 3 handicap and others are almost as low it looks at least an international final. Smith and Shaffer are in the top half the draw, with Pigott and Owens in the lower bracket.

Canadian players, however, are of strong calibre and will put up a good battle to bring the great trophy back to Canada.

During the summer the J.B.A.A. enjoyed a banner tennis year, working its way into the finals in the "C" division tournament play, and enjoying many keen games in the club matches.

Osman's home run in the sixth inning, with one man on, helped the Navy Yard softball squad to defeat the Liquor Control Board 5 to 3 in the game played at Beacon Hill Park yesterday evening. Sherritt, third baseman for the Navy, made a brilliant catch to furnish one of the features of the game.

The Y.M.C.A. Intermediate "B" basketball team went through a fine opening workout at the association's gym yesterday evening. Red Martin, coach, expressed the opinion the team would be one of the strongest the "B" had put in the division for many years.

All officers of the C.P.R. Fivepin Bowling League last year were returned to office at a meeting yesterday evening as follows: J. A. Kennedy, president; C. F. Armstrong, vice-president; J. J. Hickey, treasurer; I. E. Barr, secretary; J. H. Aylwin, second secretary. The league will consist of ten teams, playing every Monday evening at 9 o'clock at the Olympic Alhambra. A meeting of the executive committee of the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League will be held on Friday, September 18, at 8 o'clock at the Victoria Hotel. The meeting is to make arrangements for the coming season.

His greatest trouble in building up the machine is lack of experience. "We are going to have a hard time in the first games, but the team will blossom out as it goes along," he declared.

Roberts, who is a professional coach in California, spent three years before he took over the job of looking after the Palo Alto Military College team. Later he went to the Marine College, San Francisco, where he coached the old player and has a wide knowledge of both English and American codes which he has used to advantage in training the local club.

B.C. CHAMPS MEET ALBERTA

Canadian Rugby Titleholders Play Prairie Winners in Western Semi-finals

Vancouver, Sept. 16.—British Columbia's Canadian Rugby champions will play off with the Alberta champions this fall in the western semi-finals. This was decided at a meeting of the British Columbia Union yesterday evening, and is a direct result of the conference held in Regina last spring between the Western Canada Rugby Union, the British Columbia Union and the Western Canada Intercollegiate Rugby Union.

With the western intercollegiate finals scheduled for the coast this year, British Columbia officials decided the play-off series here would be enough.

The City Senior League goes into action Saturday, when Cougars and Maroons meet.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—In midsummer weather, Ontario's grid stars are responding to the clamor call of "King Rugby" and practices have become general. From present indications, Toronto's entries in the Intercollegiate, Big Four and Senior O.R.U., will be well supplied with seasoned veterans.

Varsity is well staffed with both veterans and hopefuls. Under Dr. Harry Hobbs, more than eighty candidates for the blue squad are appearing on the gridiron daily.

Buck McKenna's Argonaut squad is wondering whether it will have Frank Turville on the rear-guard this year. The lanky hooper, one of the greatest of Canadian booters, barring accidents, will be in uniform, it is believed, before Saturday. Joe Wright Jr., former winner of the Diamond Sculls, and a sturdy lineman, trotted around the track yesterday and is getting ready.

Meanwhile Alex. Ponton's Balmi "beach crew" is rapidly rounding into condition. The Dominion championship are to meet McKenna's A.A.A. next Saturday in an exhibition tussle which promises to be a thrilling affair.

TENNIS PLAYER NOW HAS PLANE

A red Fleet tandem cockpit biplane with silver wings, is the latest airplane to make Victoria its temporary home. It is the property of Ronald Kirkbride of Santa Barbara and Victoria, who is well-known here as a tennis player. It was bought in Seattle, where the owner has just got his flying license, and was flown over here on Monday by Mr. Kirkbride and Charles "Chuck" Buitan, former Victoria rugby star, who is now a pilot in Seattle.

The plane has a maximum speed of 125 miles an hour and a cruising speed of 100 miles. In the main cockpit are instruments for "blind" flying, in addition to a large assortment of the regular instruments.

Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Kirkbride plans to fly to his home in Santa Barbara toward the end of the week.

Laddie Sanford Is Brilliant As Hurricanes Win

Westbury, N.Y., Sept. 16.—The Anglo-American Hurricanes, led by the spectacular Stephen (Laddie) Sanford, blew Lewis Lacey and his Hurricanes Club team from Buenos Aires, out of the United States open polo championship yesterday with as devastating an onslaught, as has ever been witnessed on classic international field by a score of 19 to 5.

Ably supported by Captain G. T. L. Pat Hoark and Winston Guest, the youthful Sanford went on a record-breaking scoring rampage and scored no less than eleven goals. Tallying in five of the eight chukkers, Sanford gave a performance unprecedented in national championship competition.

Boston Denies Sale of Star To Canadians

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—President Charles F. Adams of the Boston Bruins, denied emphatically yesterday evening a report appearing in La Presse of Montreal that Captain Lionel Hitchman, star defenseman, had been purchased by the Canadians. The purchase had never been discussed, he said, adding "It is not the policy of the Bruins to sell any player who is of value to the club."

CARDS HAVE SEVEN UNDER THE WEATHER

National League Champs Hard Hit and Have Many Injured Players.

Wilson, Manouso, Haines, Grimes, Johnson, Frisch and Street on Sick List

St. Louis, Sept. 16.—Connie Mack's "Ailing Athletics" who battle the St. Louis Cards again this year, in another world series starting here October 1, barring unlooked for complications, have nothing on the Red Birds—not even when it comes to injuries.

Manager "Cabby" Street and his Cards yesterday came forth with an assertion the National League champions are a sick lot, too, and itemized "injuries" to prove it. Here's the list: Jimmy Wilson, catcher, badly shaken up in a collision with Harry McCurdy of the Phillies on Sunday.

Gus Mancuso, the other first-string Chad catcher, injured leg. Joe Haines, pitcher, torn muscle in twisting arm. Burleigh Grimes, pitcher, sick abed. Sylvester Johnson, pitcher, painful case of try poisoning.

Frankie Frisch, second baseman, jammed right thumb. Manager Street, bad cold.

The Red Birds took the fifth straight from Philadelphia here yesterday, 5 to 0 and now need to win only to-day's game with the Quakers to clinch their fourth pennant in six years.

SIX TEAMS IN TENPIN LEAGUE

Olympic Senior League Makes Plans for Opening of Season on October 5

Plans for the coming season were laid by the Olympic Senior Ten-pin Bowling League at a meeting held yesterday evening, at the Olympic Alhambra. Four teams, The Times, Arcades, Fiddle Dog and Pantorium, signified their intention of entering teams this season and before the entries close next Monday evening two other clubs are expected to file their entries.

The next meeting of the league will be held on Monday at the Alhambra when the election of officers will take place and a schedule drawn up. The opening games of the season will be played the following Monday, commencing at 9 o'clock.

A number of the teams are still looking around for players and anyone desiring to take part in senior competition is asked to get in touch with the secretary, E. Stewart, at The Times.

The championship was won last year by the Arcades who will field a strong team to defend their honors. Plans have already been made to send a team to the Pacific Northwest Bowling Congress at Vancouver.

COMEBACK HALTED
Fresno, Cal., Sept. 16.—Armon Montoya, San Diego featherweight, but a crimp in the comeback hopes of Young Nationalista, once-famed Filipino, here yesterday evening when he took a ten-round decision over the Filipino. When the bell ended the clash, Nationalista was on the ropes and apparently on the verge of a knockout.

Mack Shows Little Enthusiasm As His A's Cinch Pennant

Veteran Manager of Philadelphia Club Fails to Enthusiasm Over Third Straight American League Victory; This Year's Win Too Easy; St. Louis Cards Take Stranglehold on National League Championship; Lou Gehrig Hits Forty-fourth Home Run as Yankees Win Fourth Straight.

Connie Mack, the sixty-eight-year-old sage of Shibe Park, can spend the next two weeks figuring out what pitcher the St. Louis Cardinals expect him to start against them in the first game of the world series.

Any other worry the Philadelphia pilot might have harbored was removed yesterday when his Athletics sewed up their third straight American League flag by overwhelming the Cleveland Indians, 14 to 3, while the Washington Senators were bowing to St. Louis, 5 to 4.

If they wished, the world champions could lose their remaining twelve games and, providing Washington won its last thirteen, still finish with a full game lead over the Senators. That, however, is highly improbable, as Lefty Grove would like to win another game or two.

When informed his A's had won for him his ninth American League flag, Mack admitted he was pleased, but failed to enthuse. It had been too easy. Ever since May 8, when they launched a seventeen-game winning streak that carried them to the top, it has been evident that nothing short of an injunction could deprive them of the pennant.

CARDS TAKE STRONG HOLD
By coincidence, the St. Louis Cardinals chose the same day to take a stranglehold on the National League bunting. Defeating Philadelphia 6 to 1 while their closest rivals, the New York Giants, were held idle by rain, Gabby Street's warriors assured themselves at least a tie for the top. If they lose their remaining games and the Giants capture all their, each will finish with ninety-five victories and fifty-nine defeats.

The veteran Ed Rommel, rather than one of Mack's high-powered pitchers, had the honor of clinching the argument. He was fairly liberal, granting nine hits, but that was nothing to what his mates did to two Indian hurlers. They piled up eighteen hits, every member of the team making at least one hit and driving across a run. Washington, leading 4 to 1 through the seventh inning, threatened to carry the fight over another day, but the Browns rallied to tie the count in the eighth and then nicked Lloyd Brown for the winning run in the ninth.

There went Walt Johnson's hopes of an American League flag. WIN FOURTH STRAIGHT
The New York Yankees, still scrapping for second place, made it four straight from the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 2, for the winning run in the ninth. Pitching the big feature of the Yank victory was Lou Gehrig's forty-fourth home run in the fifth inning with two on base.

Tom Oliver's single in the tenth inning with two out and the bases loaded drove Danny MacFadden in with the run that gave the Boston Red Sox a 3 to 2 win over Chicago, their second in a row. The game was a brilliant duel between Ted Lyons and MacFadden, both of whom went the route.

Jim Lindsey, whose specialty is relief work, brushed out to a full nine-inning trick as the Cards scored their important shutout. The big right-hander allowed only five hits, all singles, while his mates got to Clue Dudley for nine, including two doubles by Jim Bottomley.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, behind superb pitching by Heinie Meine and Larry French, tumbled the Brooklyn Robins twice, 5 to 2 and 2 to 1. Denny Vance deserved a better fate in the nightcap, when errors by Herman and Wright gave the Pirates both their runs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Pittsburgh, Sept. 16.—Two masterful pitching exhibitions by Heinie Meine and Larry French gave the Pirates a sweep of yesterday's double-header with Brooklyn, 5 to 2 and 2 to 1. Meine allowed six hits, French seven.

Second game—R. H. E.

Pittsburgh 2 10 0

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Washington, Sept. 16.—The Philadelphia Athletics clinched their third straight league pennant yesterday by defeating Cleveland, while the Washington Senators were losing to St. Louis, 5 to 4. The Athletics could lose their remaining twelve games and still finish a full game ahead.

For a time yesterday it appeared the Senators would hang on for another day, retaining a mathematical chance at the flag, but the Browns came from behind to score three runs in the eighth and tie the score and then win out in the ninth.

Watching the Majors

Seldom has the National League witnessed a hotter fight for the batting leadership of the circuit than is being waged in the closing weeks of the race. Chuck Klein of the Phillies held the top to-day by a single percentage point over Jim Bottomley of the Cardinals, with 344 and 343 respectively. Bill Terry of the Giants was a strong third at 341. Bottomley gained two points yesterday by getting two doubles in four trips against the Phillies.

WHAT A RECORD!

Canada's phenomenal and truly record growth since the beginning of the century has raised her from ninth place among the trade nations of the world to fourth place—an unparalleled record of industrial growth. Her exports have increased by almost 700%, her population by 90%, and manufacturing production some 800% during the three decades just past. The per capita railway mileage of Canada is the greatest in the world.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

The growth in popularity of Turret Cigarettes has been as phenomenal and as outstanding as Canada's growth in industry and population.

Quality alone is responsible for this marked preference on the part of all lovers of good Virginia cigarettes in Canada. After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred".

ARCANUMS OPEN SEASON'S WORK

Committees Report at First Meeting and Plans Laid For Winter

There was a large attendance at the first fall meeting of the Arcanum Council, held in the Elks Club, Monday evening. Regent Carl Stocker was in the chair and welcomed back a number of the members who have been on a vacation. Brother Ed. Kidd, who was recently married, was heartily congratulated.

Plans for the holding of two council sessions each month for the fall and winter were completed. A brief report of the first annual picnic held at The Chalet, Deep Cove, last month was given by G. Mackintosh. The boys committee reported the entrance of two teams in the league. Les Beach, chairman of sports committee, reported the activities of the softball teams last season and announced the formation of a badminton club for all members who are interested in this popular pastime.

Brother Gordon Mackintosh was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and instructed to have the committee make arrangements for the special entertainments and social functions of the order during the winter season.

A diversified programme of entertainment was provided by the members and later in the evening a badminton tournament was enjoyed. At the next meeting of the council on September 28 matters of importance to local members will be dealt with. New members will be initiated.

DR. A. G. PRICE WILL AGAIN LEAD HORTICULTURISTS

Local Society Holds Annual Meeting; Other Officers Elected

The three chief members of the executive of the Victoria Horticultural Society were re-elected by acclamation at the annual meeting in the City Hall yesterday evening. They were Dr. A. G. Price, president; H. Whitehead, vice-president, and F. E. Boulter, secretary-treasurer. The following ten members were elected to the executive board, along with the president and Fred Landsberg, immediate past-president: Mrs. E. W. Darcus, W. Hamilton, J. A. Hibbertson, P. R. Leighton, D. B. McTavish, J. Naysmith, Mrs. D. Ramsay, A. M. Scott, F. Turner and E. M. Whyte.

Dr. Price was again acclaimed president after much persuasion, for he told the meeting he was planning a trip to England shortly and did not think he should accept a position of responsibility if he could not be present all the time to fill it. But the value of his services was recognized and his objection was not allowed to stand.

FINANCES GOOD
The various reports read during the annual meeting showed the society to be in a very prosperous condition. Receipts for the year amounted to $1,261.06, while expenditures were $848.36, the treasurer's report revealed. The annual summer show paid its way with a profit of sixty cents.

In his report, the president touched upon the success of the monthly meetings and the various competitions, especially the garden competitions, which were made possible through the generosity of Charles F. Todd. The society's shows were also mentioned, particularly note being made of the display at the Provincial Exhibition in which members did remarkably well.

A handsome cup on the president's desk, presented by J. Naysmith, an esteemed member of the society, will be competed for by class "B" garden entrants. The annual social will be held at the Memorial Hall, September 25, it was decided. Women members will look after the arrangements.

Before concluding his address, Dr. Price thanked all those who had helped him during the year and made special mention of certain self-sacrificing members.

The good financial standing of the society was then shown in the report of the secretary-treasurer, F. E. Boulter. The secretary's report described the growth of the society from its small beginning in February, 1921, to the present paid up membership of 254, the garden notes issued in bulletin form every month and the interesting and educational addresses which the members have listened to monthly. A vote of thanks was enthusiastically voted to the year's executive and the hope expressed that the ensuing year will be an even better one.

Exhibits of dahlias and tomatoes were shown on a table at the meeting. R. A. Nicholson's dahlias were considered best, while Albert Smith took second place. A. M. Scott received the judge's award with his tomatoes.

BURSARIES FOR NORMAL SCHOOL

List of Students to Be Helped By Education Department Announced

Names of Normal School students who will receive bursaries from the Department of Education to assist them in their studies were announced yesterday evening by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education. With his statement Mr. Hinchliffe indicated the names of students who will be awarded scholarships for further study at the University of British Columbia would be released within a week. The awards are made to assist students who show unusual ability and merit assistance.

Regarding the U.B.C. bursaries, Mr. Hinchliffe stated a number of prominent citizens had been formed into a committee to act with one appointed by the Board of Governors of the university in determining who should receive them.

Winners of the Normal School scholarships, along with the amounts they will receive, follow:
Group 1, $200 each, to Margaret Windt, Smithers, and Merle Mallery of Longview. Frank H. Moore of Radium Hot Springs and Constance Heller of Chapman Camp. Group 2, $150 each, to Jack Peachey of Radium, Ronald Seal of Procter, and May Johnson of Burrard. Group 3, $125, Ernest Doe of Salmon Arm. Group 4, $100, John Wood of Penticton and Lillian M. Alexander of Princeton. Group 5, $75, Alexander Patterson of New Westminster. The bursaries take the place of a former system under which the province paid transportation of candidates if desired to assist, under special circumstances. The selection was made by the Department of Education, after thorough analysis of each application, and in conjunction with the staffs at the Normal Schools.

SLIGHT FOOD CHANGES AFFECT THE BODY TREMENDOUSLY

My grand niece weighed less at eight months than at birth, due to "infantile eczema." Was plastered with ointments and unattended for several months. Entire household exhausted from lack of sleep. I added vegetable juice to each bottle feeding, nothing more. After two days she slept fourteen hours continuously. Ointments then discontinued, baths resumed. No rash, no itching in four years since. Why? Vegetable juice alkalized her blood, killing the acid-caused eczema. Alkaline Roman Meal has kept her blood alkaline since.

Alkaline Roman Meal also saved my life when the great Celer told me twenty-three years ago I could not live four months. Now at seventy-three not two per cent of men thirty have muscles, strength or endurance equal to mine, built up out of alkaline booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofy-sub, the new alkaline beverage. If you'll write for them to ROBT. G. JACKSON, M.D., 507 Vine Ave., Toronto 9, Ont. (Adv.)

OMITS DIVIDEND

New York, Sept. 16.—Directors of the Western Electric Company, manufacturing subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to-day omitted the quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the stock, 98 per cent of which is owned by A.T. & T.

Omission of this payment will reduce the quarterly income of American Telephone by more than $4,000,000 or by about 20 cents per share of American Telephone stock.

Despite this omission of the subsidiary dividend, it is stated in sources close to the telephone company that the latter will fully earn its 99 annual dividend this year.

The only statement issued by the Western Electric management on the decrease in the volume of sales, directors took no action on the dividend.

AT THE THEATRES

NEW DRAMATIC FIND STARS IN DOMINION FILM

Peggy Shannon, After Successful Stage Career, Takes to Talkies

Paramount presents a new dramatic "find" with the showing of "The Secret Call," to-day, Thursday and Friday at the Dominion. Her name is Peggy Shannon.

A few years ago she was just a beautiful girl, living with her family in Pine Bluff, Arkansas. To-day she is a beautiful girl with an equipment of rich experience in stage work in stock companies and on Broadway.

Miss Shannon got the "stage bug" several years ago when she was in New York on a visit with her mother and her sister.

Called as a "PUNCH-BITTER" With a part in one of Florence Ziegfeld's "Punch" shows, she began her career. She was in Earl Carroll's "Vanities" and later played in stock companies from Brooklyn to Buffalo.

Followed a season of legitimate stage work on Broadway. It was while she was playing opposite Ernest Truex in "Capl" that she was offered a contract with Paramount.

A short time after she accepted this bid, Clara Bow, who was playing opposite Ernest Truex in "Capl," that she was offered a contract with Paramount.

The cast includes such favorites as William B. Davidson, Harry Beresford, Jed Prouty, Ned Sparks, Charles Trowbridge and Selmer Jackson.

Then Charles Frohman, the astute picker of talent, brought her to the United States as John Drew's leading woman in "My Wife." From that time her rise was meteoric. She starred successfully in "Love Watches," "Mrs. Dot," "Mind the Paint Girl," "Jerry" and many other plays. In "The Vinegar Tree" she has a typical Burke role and is surrounded by a sterling cast, including William Morris and Julie Dillon.

Edgar McGregor staged the play for Belasco and Curran.

AT COLISEUM

Natalie Barkas, the wife of Geoffrey Barkas, the co-director of "The England," the inspiring sound film of Youth on the Gallipoli front, now showing at the Coliseum, accompanied the production company to Malta where the powerful battle scenes were filmed, and was occupied as "floor secretary" on the making of the picture.

"For the first three weeks in Malta," she recollects, "I spent most of my time drawing maps and working out plans of operation for the navy and marines (some thousands of whom appear in the film) with my husband. We must have exhausted Valetta's supplies of tracing paper, drawing pins and graph paper. Working on such a huge scale with battleships, cruisers, picket boats and large detachments of Royal Marines, it was essential that every unit should have detailed information and defined positions.

Mr. Bates remarks in a letter received by one of his Victoria admirers: "We have seen the production of the Victoria citizens; our effort is for the whole of the Province of British Columbia, not for Vancouver alone. It has been my ambition to build up a tradition of choral singing which will have British Columbia as its home, where musical pilgrimages can come for inspiration in the same way as sick people go to St. Anne de Beaupre in search of health."

Tickets for the concert may be secured in advance at Fletcher Bros., or the Willis Piano Company.

Gloria Swanson, in her dressing room between scenes one day during the production of her latest United Artists picture, "Indiscreet," talked over the telephone from Hollywood to a group of girls from various European countries, who were being entertained in New York as her guests. FIND CHINESE TOOK OWN LIFE

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Suicide in Case of Chin Sun Yip

Swallowed Poison While Young Son Was on His Way to Pay Him Visit

On evidence given at the inquest to-day on Chin Sun Yip, fifty-six-year-old Chinese head man at the Hendry Greenhouse, Kenneth Road, Saanich, that he had eaten crystals of cyanide of potassium, a deadly poison, the coroner's jury this morning returned a verdict of suicide at the Thomson & Fetterly Funeral Parlor.

Further paths was added to the tragedy when young Chin Wing Hon, son of the deceased, told the jury through the interpreter, he had come to pay a visit to his father for the first time in two years on the day of the elder Chin's death.

Dr. David Berman, Saanich health officer, told the jury of being summoned to the Hendry Greenhouse on Monday afternoon. He found the deceased reclining on a settee in an out-house. The body was cold, indicating Chin had been dead for some hours.

POISON NEAR BODY

Beside the settee, within reach of the dead man, was a bag of bananas and an open package of cyanide of potassium. Bananas skins on the floor indicated the dead man had been eating the fruit. The face of the deceased appeared natural. However, the Chinaman taken the poison, it would not necessarily have altered his physical appearance, the doctor said.

The body showed no marks of violence. Chin On, friend of the deceased, said he last saw Chin Sun Yip alive on Sunday evening when they drove from town in the same taxi. Chin On went to the Island Greenhouse, and Chin Sun Yip went to his establishment. At that time he appeared to be in his usual health.

VISITED BY SON

On Monday, Chin Wing Hon, son of the dead man, went to visit his father, but being unable to find him, proceeded to the Island Greenhouse, where he had found the friend Chin On. Both returned to search for the father.

The body was located in the boiler room of the Hendry Greenhouse at 2:30 o'clock in the position described by the doctor. The police were summoned at 3 o'clock. When asked about the crystals of cyanide of potassium, he stated they were used for killing insects in the greenhouse.

HAD BEEN SEPARATED

The son, giving evidence, said he went to see his father on Monday. The father could not be located, so he went to his friend. He returned to town without seeing the deceased. Chin Sun Yip had not been advised of his coming, the son said.

Percy Kenneth Cummings, Saanich police constable, gave similar evidence to the coroner.

Before asking for a verdict, Coroner E. C. Hart told the jurors the poison acted quickly and did not leave any marks on the body.

It appeared from the evidence Chin Sun Yip had eaten it along with the bananas, he said.

Mrs. North Seeks Licensing Power For Police Board

Power to halt "walkathons or any ridiculous shows or immoral and improper parades" is sought by the Victoria Police Commission in a resolution passed yesterday afternoon to be forwarded to the City Council.

The motion was made by Mrs. North, seconded by Commissioner McLaughlin.

Mrs. North repeated some of her statements of two months ago in regard to walkathons, and alleged that in some cases boys and girls slept on the same cots.

Chief Heatley assured the commissioner he had inspected the place where the contest was held, and that there was nothing wrong. He offered to proceed to the spot immediately after the meeting and show her the place.

North persisted in her motion, however, declaring the Police Commission should have power to determine whether or not licences should be granted for such shows.

APPRECIATIVE OWNER SOUGHT FOR ROYAL CAR

Victoria to Lose King of Siam's Big Car Because of Duty Liability

His Majesty's Counsel Brings Message of Appreciation of Pleasant Visit

To clean up all the details left over from the visit of the King of Siam, Capt. J. Watson-Armstrong, R.O.S., Siamese consul-general, reached here to-day from Vancouver.

"His Majesty desires to make it known as an expression both officially and unofficially that he has very pleasant recollections of his visit to Victoria and this Island," said Capt. Watson-Armstrong, at the Empress Hotel.

"Quitting Siam, His Majesty's experiences in Canada were those of his salmon fishing at Campbell River. There His Majesty's royal party caught more than fifty salmon in three days. The largest, a salmon of 35 pounds, was caught by His Majesty's adopted young son.

"It is desired to correct the reference made in the newspapers to the fact that His Majesty's adopted son, who is going to college in Washington, D.C., is not the heir. His Majesty's blood heir, who is older, is going to Harvard."

SEATTLEITES TO GET CAR

After settling bills and details of a number of honors, Capt. Watson-Armstrong to-day found a problem remained in the disposal of the eight-cylinder Pierce-Arrow phaeton, with the Washington, D.C., diplomatic plates. The car was brought west with the King's party and has been here at the Empress Garage since they sailed for the Orient. The consul at noon said he had decided to take the car to Seattle this afternoon to try to dispose of it there.

"We expect that many people will seek to acquire the car as His Majesty's gift," said Capt. Watson-Armstrong. "It is unfortunate that the car has a United States registration as that means it cannot be used here without paying the high duty on the original retail price. The only thing to do is to take the car over to Seattle where it can be sold without paying any duty and I trust it will be acquired by someone who appreciates it. It has been used for only 4,000 miles, and is in perfect condition below expression of the distinction of being the car His Majesty used."

Who's Who At Hotels

At the Empress Hotel to-day are Mrs. Holt Coughingham, member of a prominent old-time Portland, Ore., family well known in Victoria, and Mrs. H. Corbett, also of Portland.

R. Fiddes, head of the Coast Brewery, came over from Vancouver this morning on a business trip.

Also here to-day from Vancouver are Mr. and Mrs. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. R. Cooper, I. J. Quillan, and P. A. Sutton, and Mrs. W. F. Lamme.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Gillespie are down from Kamloops at the Empress Hotel, and as are Mr. and Mrs. P. Henderson of Port Angeles.

From Ottawa there are Archibald Stewart and I. R. Stewart, and from the prairies, Andrew Ross of Winnipeg and George Whitmore of Regina.

C. C. Jackson, a C.P.R. official, has arrived from Montreal, accompanied by his wife.

"Five Points," one of the dangerous traffic intersections in the outlying parts of the city is receiving close attention from the Police Department. The Police Board was assured yesterday afternoon by Chief Heatley, a "bulldozer" warning sign has been placed there and other steps are planned to make the five-way meeting point safer for motorists and pedestrians alike.

The chief gave this assurance when the board was considering a complaint from Robert Clark regarding the dangerous nature of the place. On automobile notes due to the Somers Garage, Judge Lammman to-day awarded $110.10 against Alex. J. MacIntyre of Courtenay, B.C., and R. Grandy of Alberni. Gordon A. Cameron appeared for plaintiff. Judge Lammman also gave judgment in favor of Mary E. Gray, executrix of the estate of Andrew Gray, for $325.50 against J. W. Davies, a tenant. Mr. Cameron also appeared for plaintiff in this case.

The United Services Institution of Vancouver Island will entertain at dinner on Friday evening at the Empress Hotel, Major General J. H. MacBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., the new commander of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. It is hoped that the institution, which is composed of a large number of active and retired officers of all branches of the service, will be well represented at the dinner. General MacBrien will speak on subjects of interest to the members of the institution. Major Walter Bapty, president, will preside.

The broom of Beacon Hill Park, glorified by poets, artists and publicity writers, admired by loving couples walking through the winding paths of the park, and frowns upon by moralists at many a City Council meeting should be utilized in any Victoria beautification scheme, a writer to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce says this morning. Instead of being ruthlessly slashed as sometimes advocated, it should be made even more mysterious and attractive in the opinion of the writer. He refers to the famous Hampton maze in which people would be through winding paths circling and turning to lose themselves in a cobweb of trails. The Hampton maze, he says, is a great admiration and with very little trouble paths could be cut in the Beacon Hill broom, so that Victoria would have an equally famous maze. Being a Scot he also suggests a Scottish keep or a Scottish memorial be erected in the park.

SEEK WAGES AND RETURN OF LOAN

De Lorme, Former Managers of Douglas Hotel, Start Action Here To-day

Before Chief Justice Morrison in the supreme court here to-day, Emile and Phoebe de Lorme, through their counsel, D. S. Tait, started their suit against R. L. Cox, administrator for the estate of John Hayhurst, former proprietor of the Douglas Hotel.

The De Lormes claim $3,579 wages as joint managers of the Douglas Hotel and $650 for money lent to Mr. Hayhurst during his lifetime, and, in addition, interest on these two amounts.

Emile de Lorme, who is a son-in-law of Mr. Hayhurst, came here for the trial to-day from Saskatoon, where the two families have been living since they gave up their connection with the hotel.

A number of lawyers are in the court watching the case for various interests who have claims arising out of the operation of the hotel.

Mr. de Lorme was on the stand most of the morning, and was put under a long examination by A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., counsel for the administrator, who sought to break down the claim for wages.

BACK TO HOLLYWOOD

De Lorme testified he and his wife were going back to Hollywood where they had been before, when they were persuaded to come with the Hayhursts to Victoria on the verbal promise of $300 a month.

Mr. Macfarlane cross-examined Mr. de Lorme with regard to his position and earnings in Hollywood.

"I am not interested in his Hollywood experiences," said the Chief Justice, halting the questioning. "They may interest counsel, but they do not interest me. I want to know what agreement was made between them for their work here, and you take him off to Hollywood."

The trial was adjourned at noon to be resumed Thursday morning.

HINDU TRIAL ENDS WITH DISMISSAL

After evidence for the defence had been given by Kapoor Singh, Mayo Singh and Shiam Singh, Chief Justice Morrison yesterday evening threw out the six-year-old suit of Harnam Singh against Kapoor Singh and associates over his claim for a share in interest in the Harnam Lumber Company Ltd.

In this way ended the trial which for two days has crowded the court room and corridors of the Court House with members of the Hindu community of this Island, as the case had assumed the proportions of a feud between factions.

J. W. de Parris, Mackenzie Matheson and Gordon Sloan appeared for the defence, while Hamilton Reid and F. C. Elliott appeared for the plaintiff. There were three interpreters to translate the evidence which was given by the witnesses in Punjabi.

ALLEGED BEER THEFT BY PAIR

L. Branch and R. Langster Face Charge in City Police Court

Charged with breaking and entering the Britannia Branch Canadian Legion, 715 View Street, and committing theft, Larry Branch and Robert Langster appeared in the City Police Court this morning.

The pair were arrested yesterday evening by Constable T. Stevenson and Patrol Driver S. Wilkinson. They are alleged to have stolen a barrel of beer from the place.

Ball was set at $1,000 each in two sureties and an adjournment granted to Friday on request of Henry Hall, K.C., their counsel.

City Prosecutor Harrison said the police would allege the pair were caught in the act of taking the beer and had a vehicle ready to carry it away.

BARBER CHIEF VISITOR HERE

James C. Shanessy Discusses Profession's Problems With Operators; Meet Thursday

Head barber for all of North America, James C. Shanessy is in Victoria to-day from Indianapolis and as president of the Barbers' International Union, is discussing problems of the tonsorial profession with local operators.

Speaking outside of barber problems, Mr. Shanessy declared that general world conditions could not be permanently improved until the peoples of the various countries rid themselves of the bogey of war, which takes such an enormous proportion of each country's annual revenue, and until the various governments take control of the banks and establish them for the convenience of the people.

GREATER BANK CONTROL

"In handling the banks for the good of the people, Britain has taken more advanced steps than any other country so far," Mr. Shanessy said.

Mr. Shanessy will go to Vancouver at the end of the week to take part in the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, which opens at the Hotel Vancouver September 21. After that he will attend the American Federation of Labor Convention in the same hotel early in October.

Coming west through Canada, Mr. Shanessy said what impressed him most was the cleanliness and freedom from smoke and dust he found in Winnipeg, where practically all work is done with electricity.

At a meeting of the whole Victoria hair-cutting and hair-dressing professionals, union and non-union, to be held in the Trades and Labor Hall, Courtney Street, at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, Mr. Shanessy will deliver an address on the problems and changes facing the profession.

The local Anti-visitation Society will hold a silver tea at the New Hought Hall, Fort Street, on Saturday, October 3. Visitors at last year's tea keenly appreciated the arrangements made for their convenience and entertainment and were delighted with their reception. A candy stall and novelties will be special features. Mrs. L. Sweeney has charge of the musical programme, while interesting features, pertaining to the objects for which the celebration is observed, are being arranged. The day is dedicated to the memory of St. Francis of Assisi, friend of animals.

Wheat Strengthened On Winnipeg Market To-day

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Reluctance of farmers to part with their grain, and reports that Argentine wheat was being rejected because it did not come up to contract grade, had a strengthening influence on trading throughout the wheat market here to-day. Values at the close recorded gains of from one cent to 1/2 cent.

October closed at 53 cents, December at 53 1/2 cents, while May ended at 57 1/2 cents.

There appears to be a broadening of interest in wheat, although this is not reflected in export figures. Hedging to-day was correspondingly small.

Cash wheat and coarse grain trading was slow, with spreads a trifle higher.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Wheat: Wheat market continued nervous and erratic again to-day with prices holding within a range of one cent and the top was one cent over the previous close. There was little of feature going on, trade being largely local in character, although early there was some buying for Chicago account and a little by seaboard houses.

So far as could be confirmed there was very little export business worked out of this market, but Russell's New York advice stated that following the good-sized business yesterday there were further fair sales over night, there being a demand for hard winters and Manitoba from the United Kingdom and the continent, with sales being estimated at 400,000 bushels to 500,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed unchanged to 1/2 higher and a better tone was noted in the cables with further inquiry reported. The cash market was quiet with the demand somewhat indifferent. There was no pressure from offerings, and all spreads were about unchanged. While it appears almost impossible to hold any material upturn to wheat prices, due largely to lack of confidence and financial conditions the world over, the general news surrounding the market is becoming more constructive with evidence that the world's market has been well deflated and has changed from a constant pessimistic tone. The weather is unsettled in western Canada, with rains general, except in southern Saskatchewan. Winnipeg closed 1 cent to 1/2 higher, based on Winnipeg.

Coarse grains: There was very little going on in these markets, although they were all fairly active. Oats closed 1/2 higher, barley 1/2 to 5/8 higher, and rye 1 cent higher. Flax closed 1/2 to 1/4 higher.

Chamber of Commerce Group
Holds Social Evening

Warren W. Martin, secretary of the group, and Miss Evelyn M. Rothwell, who are to be married, were honored at a supper meeting of the Canadian home products section of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening. A large number of members and their wives attended.

In addition to the social side of the gathering, routine business was handled, with reports presented of work at the exhibition. Frank H. Partridge, who officiated as convener, was complimented by P. E. George, vice-president of the Junior Chamber, on his excellent work in connection with the fair.

George Beck, president of the junior group, and Clarence Ganner, past president, also spoke.

Community singing was held under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schofield, and vocal selections were rendered by Mr. Partridge.

There are exactly nine steps to the well-done manicure: (1) remove old polish, (2) file, (3) buff with dry cloth, (4) soak in soapy water and apply cuticle remover, (5) brush with soapy water and dry, (6) apply liquid polish, (7) use nail-white under-tips, (8) apply cuticle oil, and (9) wipe with towel to remove oil.

"SHALL WE HAVE A BALL?" POLICE ASK COMMISSION

To dance or not to dance—that is the question vexing the minds of Victoria's police commissioners. It was precipitated at their meeting yesterday afternoon when a request was turned in by the police mutual benefit association for approval of the department's annual ball at the Empress Hotel.

In accord with her announced intention earlier in the year, Mrs. Dorothy North tried to bar the holding of the ball. Mayor Anson, who dances himself, was of the opposite opinion.

Between them was Commissioner McGavin, who was undecided. The Victoria Police Ball, one of the highlights of the winter social season, therefore up in the air like a balloon and will be until the next meeting of the board, because a motion lay the matter over was passed.

BOLD DANCE AT HEADQUARTERS

Mrs. North's main objections to the idea had to do with the "way the sets are sold," and that "it was not good idea to hold a police ball—times so depressing." Moreover, she said the members of the department wanted to dance they had a floor in their own building.

"I think the ball is a good idea. It circulate money," said the mayor. "Yes, but it's the way the tickets are sold," Mrs. North said. "The merchants buy tickets and they don't want to." She moved that no ball be allowed.

"I left the matter wholly to the men themselves and promised I would not interfere with anything that was arranged, and would work hard to make the dance a success if it were held," Chief Thomas Heatley said.

The Mayor pointed out to Mrs. North that the police ball was a civic event. "Isn't it, chief?" he asked.

"Yes, it's a civic event," the chief said.

"Where do the profits go?" asked the Mayor.

"Into the benevolent association fund," Chief Heatley replied.

"That's a good place," the Mayor replied.

Mrs. North, who had been silent during this exchange, spoke again.

"When the people voted this board into office they did so because they didn't want a ball," she said.

Commissioner McGavin wanted to know if the merchants were complaining about the ticket sale, and, on receiving a negative reply, terminated the discussion by moving the question be left over until the next meeting.

The answer is still open—to dance or not to dance?

EXTENSION OF PENSIONS ASKED

T.V. Men Ask Children's Allowance Continue Extra
Year

Reports of the recent Dominion convention were read at the meeting of the Victoria Tuberculosis section, Canadian Legion, yesterday evening in the association rooms at 1015 Blanshard Street.

Remedial measures advocated by the local T.V. branch were considered, and one was a recommendation to the effect "that when a pensioner desires to appeal against assessment of pension he shall have the privilege of having his private medical adviser present to discuss the disability with the pension board medical representatives."

Another resolution of particular interest, considered by the Tuberculosis Section delegates sought the extension of children's pensions over the age limit. It was recommended that in view of the economic conditions now existing the pension of children of ex-service men should be extended for one year to allow them to continue schooling, rather than have them sent into the proposed labor camps where they would come into contact with all classes of people.

The meeting decided to stage a cribbage tournament for members, and also to enter the ex-service billiard league which will commence games in the near future.

The secretary was instructed to write letters of sympathy and condolence to the widow of the late Comrade A. Moss, and to the widow and family of the late Comrade D. K. Glen.

Boys' Work Board Supports Course To Be Given Soon

The Boys' Work Board of Victoria yesterday evening decided to support a special teachers' training course to be conducted by the Religious Education Council at the Memorial Hall on October 27, 28, 29 and November 2, 3 and 4, under the direction of Rev. J. H. A. Warr, at its special meeting in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday evening.

Reports on the summer activities of the board were given and Mr. Warr and Charles McLeod were elected chairman and secretary respectively of the group to fill the posts left vacant by Walter Thomson and Fred Robins. The retiring officers were thanked for their untiring work during the year.

Support was promised the Y.M.C.A. in its big Apple Day drive.

The organization of new groups and their registration will be left in the hands of a committee composed of H. Ralston, Don McCain and E. Trowdale.

The chairman and vice-chairman of the board were chosen as delegates to the Provincial Boys' Parliament committee.

REV. A. ESLER TO BE SPEAKER

St. Paul's Presbyterian
Church to Celebrate Fortieth
Anniversary

Arrangements are well advanced for the fortieth anniversary celebration of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, to be held on Sunday, September 27. With the securing of Rev. Alex. Esler, M.A., D.D., of Grandview Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, as the special preacher for that day, the season feels assured of crowded congregations at each of the three services to be held at 11, 2.30 and 7.30 o'clock.

H. McCleary, A.T.C.L., organist and choirmaster, is preparing the choir for a musical programme worthy of the event, and special advertising has been prepared for the visitation committee, who have divided the city into districts to systematically make the anniversary known.

Interest is being aroused in the project to reduce the debt upon the manse by $1,000, and a willing and generous spirit is being evinced.

Heart of Liane by MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XXIV

The big man announced, "Young lady to see you, Lieutenant."

At the scared desk sat Shane McDermid, staring at though he'd seen a vision.

The girl advancing was enveloped in a smoke-colored coat fitting her snugly at the waist like a Cossack's uniform. Little smoke-colored turban curls escaped. Small, exquisitely fitting shoes. There was a subtle scent in the big, grim office with the unwashed windows. Shane stared, and small wonder that he did. He got to his feet stumbly.

"Miss Barrett?"

"Yes. The vision smiled. "You're all grown up," he said, marveling. "You were a little girl last summer."

"And you've been made a lieutenant. I'm almost afraid of you now."

He laughed, but was pleased and flattered, too. "Not a bit of it. Well, well, is there something I can be doing for you?"

She told him. Between breaths he made deep sounds of anger.

"The dir-ty—" He caught himself in time. "You'll have to excuse me."

"The rats—I tell me what the fellow looks like," he commanded.

Liane ruffled her forehead in an effort to recall the least clue. "He's dark like a Spaniard—or Mexican," she said haltingly. "He has a tiny moustache. He is beautifully manicured."

"No rings? Jewelry?"

"No, I don't think so. Oh, he had a little gold watch chain. I remember he kept playing with it. Shaped like a tiny lion."

"Um," Shane McDermid pondered. "Tuesday, you say?"

"That is what he said. Yes."

"The Alexis Club. That's a new place, now, Johnny Barbados. I know. He's a Greek. Not a bad one, either. Now, look. Don't you worry your head about this. I've got something on Johnny. He won't want me to get down on him. Just you stop worrying. I'll see to it, yes. It looks mighty funny to me. Shane McDermid pondered. They knew that about old Ciespaugh's will and that not generally known, you say. And they were aware you've no money. It looks as if you're to be scared out. Well, leave it to me."

Liane rose. He seemed to be dismissing her.

"You think it's all right, then?"

"I'm telling you not to worry, an I mean it. Johnny Barbados. Well, Shane saw her to the door. He said, 'Call me up to-morrow. Maybe I'll have good news for you.'"

"I can't thank you," Liane managed to say. She was fumbling for a handkerchief.

"Well, there. You're a good girl and I like to help good girls. Don't see one any too often." He laughed awkwardly.

She went out into the street feeling rather dazed. Half an hour ago she had been quite sick with fear, with foreboding. Now the cloud seemed momentarily at least, to have lifted.

What a good fellow, Shane McDermid was. Her heart warmed to him. She wished she might tell Clive all about him. But she didn't—at least, not yet.

Liane left, she thought, an enormous affection for Shane McDermid. It was nothing like the feeling she had for Clive. They laughed at the same jokes. He made life seem casual and amusing.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Bat

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggily Longears was far away from his hollow stump bungalow. The rabbit gentleman was riding up near the clouds in his funny airship made from a clothes basket, with toy circus balloons tied on to lift him up, and an electric fan to whizz around like a propeller on a real airship. This made the rabbit gentleman's ship go fast. Not that his airship wasn't a real one. It was quite real enough for Mr. Longears and in it he had many adventures. Just before this he had an adventure with an Eagle and a Mud Turtle, as I told you in the stories before this.

Now the rabbit was sailing along once more with the blue sky above him and also fleecy, white clouds, like bunches of cotton, which might be white sail boats beating their way to a desert island where oranges and coconuts grow.

"I wonder what my next adventure may be," murmured Mr. Longears as he steered his airship a little higher and to the left.

"If you please," suddenly said a peeping voice, "I am an adventure for you."

Uncle Wiggily looked around and saw a robin fluttering along and not flying properly as robins should.

"Well, you don't look like an adventure, but perhaps you are," said Uncle Wiggily, steering his airship close to the fluttering bird with the red breast.

"If I'm not an adventure at least I have just had one," chirped the robin. "And it wasn't a very jolly adventure, either."

"What kind was it?" asked the rabbit.

"A sad one," the bird answered. "I was flying merrily along when, all of a sudden, a big hawk flew at me and tried to catch me."

"You mean that hawk bird with the hooked beak?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for once, when he was a little boy rabbit.

"Yes, that was it," the bird answered. "I was flying merrily along when, all of a sudden, a big hawk flew at me and tried to catch me."

"Well, we were just about to send out a searching party," he stood up, touched her almost awkwardly.

She drew away. Her laugh sounded brittle, strange. "I must hurry if I am to change. Shopping was an endless, mysterious pursuit and he did not pretend to understand it."

"You looked pale this morning but now you're a grand color," he said appreciatively.

"I feel worlds better," Liane said. She stretched out her arms. "You mustn't do that! His tone was almost a growl. Suddenly, without warning, he had swooped upon her, kissed her full on the mouth, and then he winked a small voice.

"Sorry to interrupt such a charming tableau!"

They both looked up. Tressa stood a few steps behind them. Her eyes blazed with hate.

The woman with the black veil threw her cigarette and the waste-basket. "The man growled, 'You'll set this place on fire yet.'"

She said fiercely, "Don't bother me. So they muffled the whole business."

"She has friends at court, I tell you. Came down on Johnny like a brick. He's lucky the place wasn't shut up."

He's yellow, I tell you, and is scared. Foolish his dump! get a bad name."

"That is to laugh," the woman said cynically. "Bad name for Johnny's place. It never had anything else."

She paced up and down.

"Well, can't you do something?" she snapped. "You have before. Write her a note, have her come in, and throw a good, hard scare into her. She knows what 'The Tattletale' is anyhow."

The man threw out his hands. "I wouldn't touch her if she's got McDermid in her train," he said explosively.

"This business's tricky enough but you can't expect me to put my neck into a noose. That bird's dynamite. He'd as soon frame me as eat. And he could, too."

The SYMPHONY

PERFECT sound transmission was developed through years of experimentation and intensive study by technical specialists. From the same research laboratories of the telephone companies, from the same experiments and from the same skilled brains have come still newer forms of sound transmission.

Motion picture sound reproducers, phonograph electrical recording and reproducing systems, the public address system and the public entertainment amplifiers are modern developments from the telephone.

In your favorite motion picture theatre, in the making of your phonograph records, in the banquet or lecture hall, in the public park or on the beach—voices and music come to you through the help of Northern Electric sound transmission and amplifying equipment.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1931

Adverse aspects are strongly dominant to-day, according to astrology. The wise will be cautious in small as well as large undertakings.

Although the early hours of the morning may be enervating and stimulating there is likely to be a sense of depression later.

Under this way much discussion of food is indicated by the stars. Not only will diet lists be of much concern to men and women, but the production of the farms will be of extraordinary interest.

While the wealthy who have too much food reduce their rations the poor who have not enough to eat will focus much attention.

This way is supposed to affect the mental outlook, encouraging persons to seek their wrongs instead of their blessings.

Women to-day should be most cautious. It is believed to increase the tendency to be indirect and even deceitful.

This is not a lucky direction of the stars for love affairs. Crisis may be uneasy, and inclined to hide their true characters.

Weddings to-day seem to be under a way making for eventual and changeable lives. Brides should realize the importance of making the home beautiful.

In the evening of this day the stars smile. Children born on this day probably will have a love of science. The subjects of this sign usually are exceedingly independent.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include J. P. Lerley, 1918, noted geologist, and William E. Griffith, 1923, educator and author.

SECRET BANK FOR GANGSTERS

Notorious Hoodlums, Under Fictitious Names, Had Accounts in Chicago Bank

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Officials examining the records of the closed First Italian State Bank, whose president allegedly died with $138,000 of its funds, said to-day they had uncovered evidence indicating the missing man, Saverio Ariani, had conducted a private secret bank within the larger bank and was patronized by gangsters and others who evidently sought by that means to hide their wealth and evade paying income tax.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry E. Avers said Louis Sormani, an auditor, had disclosed that more than a dozen hoodlums, including leaders of notorious gangs, had accounts in the secret inner bank under fictitious names.

Several Italian women visited the state's attorney office showing pass-books which they said Ariani had given them to record their deposits in the secret "inner" bank.

Discussion merely had centred around plans for a Liberal convention at London on October 20.

It is a serious mistake to seek relief from indigestion or a bad stomach using pepsin or other artificial stimulants. You get relief but weaker stomach and do not reach the stage which, nine times in ten, is simply much acid in the stomach. Bismarck Magnesia, taken after meals, dissolves excess acid, sweetens the stomach, cleans up the stomach, drives out acid and bile and lets the stomach's your food as nature intended with a particle of trouble.

Reliable druggists everywhere both powder and tablets in sealed ages. Do not confuse with ore citrate, milk or lump magnesia sure to get Bismarck, which is laxative and is especially prepared for stomach trouble.

Magnesia Best For Gassy Stomach

Biurated Magnesia From Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion

If everything you eat turns to and your stomach is a constant ferment of sourness and Acid Indigestion taking a little pure Biurated Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfail gives.

What a Wry Joke It Is That When We Most Need The Wisdom of Greybeards, When We Are Choosing Our Profession and Our Life Mates, We Have Only the Worldly Wisdom of Babes in the Wood

IT IS one of life's little ironies that we have to make the decisions that determine our fate when we are still babes and before we have acquired either knowledge of the world or the wisdom of experience or have even learned to think. No wonder that we make so many mistakes and blunder into so many pitfalls. Think of a boy in his teens settling the question of his career! On his decision hangs his whole future. If he chooses the right occupation, the thing for which he has an aptitude, he will have a pleasant, interested, contented life and he will be prosperous and successful. He may even attain fame and wealth.

But if he chooses the wrong occupation and undertakes to do the thing that nature never intended him to do, then he will be bored and restless and dissatisfied. He will loathe his task and never learn to do it well and he will wind up as an embittered, poverty-stricken failure. Probably in the end he will give up his unbecoming job and become a hanger-on of his family or a tramp.

When a boy decides on his life work he needs to be a psychoanalyst and psychologist and to have the tabulated wisdom and experience of a whole professional guidance school to boot. And he has nothing. No help from within. He is utterly unacquainted with himself and incapable of estimating his own abilities in any direction. Occasionally a flare of genius lights the way for a boy, he was born to be a doctor or a lawyer or an artist or a mechanic or a merchant, but most lads have no special talent that pulls them this way or that. And, anyway, they are so young and ignorant to analyze their reactions to certain stimuli and to understand the significance of their inclinations in some particular direction.

So they follow the line of least resistance and take the first jobs that present themselves, or they fall in with their family's plans for them, because they have no plans for themselves, and the poor little round pegs roll into the square holes where they will never fit, as if a malign fate had directed their course. John, who would have been worth his weight in gold as an automobile mechanic, becomes the poorest of hand salesmen. Tom, who is a bookworm and would have been a shining light in any learned profession, becomes a failure as a grocer. And James, who would have been a go-getter in business, makes the dullest of preachers.

Many an unsuccessful, disappointed, discouraged man knows that his future is due simply and solely to his having got into the wrong occupation and that he would have been happy and successful if he had chosen manufacturing instead of the law or banking instead of plumbing. And he regrets cynically on how different his life would have been if he could have made his choice of a career when he was thirty instead of when he was twenty.

Then there is marriage. Most people decide that important question while they are still young and callow and not only ignorant of the opposite sex but with no idea of what they are going to require in a wife or husband. To have even a fifty-fifty chance of making a marriage a success a man should be a connoisseur of women. He should be familiar with their arts and their wiles. He should be able to form a judgment of their mentality, of their temperaments and dispositions.

And, above all, he should be able to tell what qualities will appeal to him in the long pull of marriage. He should know if he wants a wife for a kitchen maid or a parlor ornament; whether he will want a wife who is a show window in his prosperity or a kitchen range that will serve him good food; whether duty will suffice or whether he will want a wife who will entertain and amuse him.

And a woman should be wise to men before she picks out her husband. She should be able to tell a fireside companion from a philanderer; a go-getter from a parasite who will let her take in boarders to support him, a man who will take marriage in a serious way from one who will regard it as a mere episode. Furthermore, she should be able to tell what she will want in a husband, whether she will want a money-maker or a lover-maker, a husband who will step out with her or one who will stay in with her, a man who will kill her or one who will work his fingers to the bone for her.

But because boys and girls pick out their wives and husbands while they are kiddies who believe in Santa Claus and that marriage works miracles, they lose something because it is pretty and glittering and has lots of fresh paint on it and is wrapped up in the pink chiffons of romance and trust to luck that will turn out to be useful and that they will stand like it when they get it and will not get tired of it after they have played with it for a little while.

It is noticeable that those who marry late in life and who bring a mature judgment instead of the fancy of a child to the selection of their mates seldom figure in the divorce courts.

And it is because youngsters have to decide on a matrimonial policy before they have had time to learn how to handle the situation diplomatically that have had so much discord and unhappiness in marriage. Years and experience teach us patience and forbearance and how to walk around a stone instead of battering ourselves to pieces against it.

There are few husbands and wives who, looking back over their married lives, do not sigh as they think of all the mistakes they made, of all the needless suffering they caused and endured and of how easily they could have got along with their Marys and Johns if only they had known as much about married life on their wedding day as they did on their silver anniversary.

What a wry joke it is that when we most need the wisdom of greybeards we have only the worldly wisdom of babes in the woods!

Clever Seals

Could you climb a ladder at the time you were balancing a large ball on your nose? I think you could find it a hard task, and I should advise you to try it. Recently, ever, I saw a seal perform the trick. The seal was in a circus ring. Balancing the ball, sometimes tossing it

...the seal and baby seals sunning themselves on ocean shore. And catching it, the animal climbed a double step ladder, then down the side. Another seal held itself up by balancing on its front pair of flippers. Its head and its tail were a foot off the ground! Another seal blew on a musical instrument similar to a flute. The seal was what we might call "crude," there was a certain amount of to it.

It is remarkable that animals which look so clumsy can behave so cleverly. Far back in history, seals were land animals and had four legs. After they took to the water, their legs were used mostly for swimming, and, in the course of time, became flippers. Some kinds of seals have hind flippers which are partly joined to the tail. The tail itself is short and has little use.

Fur seals were at one time common in ocean waters, but their number has been cut down greatly. We may now find them around islands off the coast of Alaska, and off the coast of Argentina.

Baby fur seals are sometimes born on icebergs, but more commonly they first see the light of day on rocky parts of the seashore. When born they possess a coat of fur which they shed two or three weeks later. The average weight of fur seals at birth is about eleven pounds. A male fur seal sometimes weighs 600 pounds when full grown, but the females seldom tip the scales at more than 150 pounds.

Strangely enough, baby seals do not know how to swim. When the little seal is five or six weeks old, it is taught to swim by its mother.

Government Ministers See Churchill Loading

Dr. Manion, Hon. Robert Weir and Hon. T. G. Murphy Watch Grain Pouring Into Ss. Farnworth at Canada's New Port on Hudson Bay.

Churchill, Man., Sept. 16. — Put through the paces before a distinguished Ottawa delegation, the crack three-year-old Churchill Harbor development was clocked in fast time to-day. For the benefit of Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, grain cars were emptied of their contents in less than eight minutes apiece, and wheat cascaded at 250 bushels a minute into a ship hold from each of four loading spouts.

With clocklike precision, prairie grain destined for the inaugural shipment overseas by the Hudson Bay route was hurried through the varied departments of the 2,500,000-bushel elevator which towers against the blue north country sky. To-morrow, grain used in the twenty-car special demonstration for Dr. Manion, will be sailing out across the bay in the hold of the steamer Farnworth bound for Britain.

Accompanied by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, Dr. Manion toured Churchill and found a profound change at the bay shore settlement since his last visit a year ago. Other members of the inspection group which reached here to-day and will return south this evening were Capt. R. V. Bennett, brother of Premier R. B. Bennett; A. S. Merriam, the premier's secretary; Hon. Robert Rogers, M.P. for Winnipeg; Southey B. C. Stitt, M.P. for Nelson; and John I. McFarland, head of Canada's wheat pool.

Churchill Harbor, owned and operated by the Dominion Government, offered a pretentious greeting to the Ottawa officials. Dugs sounded their sirens as they darted about the six-mile-long harbor, dingy dredges dipped their derricks above in salute. Flashed from stern to stern, the steamers Farnworth and Warkworth, chartered to carry the first prairie grain shipments through Hudson Straits, whistled a hoarse welcome from the dock side.

Around the Docks

Two cargo ships are expected late this evening or first thing in the morning. From San Francisco, the Kingsley Navigation Company's freighter Texada is due with 140 tons of general cargo. The Canadian National freighter Canadian Planter is due with 135 tons of general from Montreal, Quebec and Three Rivers by way of the Panama Canal. The Texada will unload as soon as she arrives but the Canadian Planter will be held over for unloading at 8 o'clock in the morning. Both ships will use the Ogden Point pier.

The C.P.R. freighter Nooka is at the Belleville Street docks for a few days' overhaul. She will sail toward the end of the week to the West Coast of Vancouver Island and make several more trips this year between the island and the mainland. The ship is carrying a cargo of fish meal and oil. The Prince Rupert, which made several freight trips this summer to the West Coast and to Alaska, is tied up at the winter at Thetis Cove, in Esquimalt Harbor.

Outbound from Victoria on Saturday will be the American Mail liner President Lincoln. She will sail from Seattle at 11 o'clock in the morning, arrive here at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and put to sea at 6 o'clock en route to ports in Japan, China and the Philippines. She will take out a good list of passengers and a capacity cargo of Northwest products and overland freight.

H.M.C.S. Skeena left Prince Rupert this morning for Vancouver after a stay of four days at the northern port. She will remain in Vancouver a few days and return to Esquimalt late next week. It is the new destroyer's first cruise since arriving at Esquimalt early in August from England, where she was built.

Returning from a trip to Alaska, going as far north as Skagway, the steamer Princess Louise arrived in Vancouver this morning. She will sail again from the mainland port on another voyage to the north to-morrow evening at 9 o'clock. The Princess Louise will take another trip from Vancouver to Alaska this month and then be relieved by the Princess Alice, which will make two trips in October before the Princess Nora goes on the run for the winter months. The Nora is still in drydock at Esquimalt for repairs and overhaul but will be released before the end of the week. The Princess Maquina is now on the West Coast run for the winter.

The Holland-America liner Damerdijk should arrive from Rotterdam and London, by way of the Panama Canal and California ports, about September 27. She is now coming up the Coast, having passed through the Canal early this week.

The next Empress to arrive here will be the Empress of Japan, which is due on September 27. The Empress of Russia, which passed through Victoria Monday, on her way to Vancouver from the Orient, will sail outbound on September 28, making an Empress here on two succeeding days.

Vancouver Shipping

Vancouver, Sept. 16.—Canadian-Australian Company Limited Ss. Walatapu arrived this morning from Australia.

Ms. Lock Katrine of Royal Mail Steam Packet Company shifted overnight to Ballantyne pier to unload 1,000 cases of salmon. She moved yesterday afternoon to Lapointe pier to load 3,000 tons of grain, and will sail this afternoon for United Kingdom and the continent.

Bringing the third silk shipment to Vancouver within ten days, Ss. Proletaria of the Blue Funnel Line came in at noon yesterday to Doodwell Company from the Orient. The ship had 1,000 tons of general for Vancouver and three carloads of silk went east over the Canadian National Railway for New York.

On Monday R.M.S. Empress of Russia dispatched five carloads over the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Ms. Hiye Maru of Nippon Yusen Kaisha landed two cars for the Great Northern Railway.

The Blue Funnel ship was delayed more than three hours by fog between here and Victoria.

NIAGARA WILL LEAVE TO-DAY

Here This Afternoon on Way to Australia; Sir Newton J. Moore Among Passengers

Outbound to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney, with only a small list of passengers, but carrying a capacity cargo, the liner Niagara will sail from the Rithet pier this evening about 8 o'clock.

She left Vancouver at 11 o'clock this morning with Capt. T. V. Hill on the business and should arrive here shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon. While here she will pick up local passengers, light cargo and United States mails.

Among the passengers aboard the liner will be Sir Newton J. Moore, K.C.M.G., M.P., late agent-general in London for Western Australia, returning to his native land with Lady Moore and his daughter, Miss M. J. Moore; E. J. Kreglinger, prominent wool dealer of Sydney, returning to his home "down under" with Mrs. Kreglinger, her sister and pleasure; Mrs. R. Foster, well-known bridge expert; P. J. Rodney, son of the Australian representative of the International Harvester Company; Mrs. Alport Barker and Miss M. Barker, socially prominent residents of Suva, en route home after spending the summer in Canada; P. S. Black, manager of the Shell Oil Company of Sydney, returning there with Mrs. Black after a holiday trip to this continent.

There are 2,500 tons of general cargo aboard the Niagara this voyage, including 1,500 sacks and 125 crates of British Columbia onions. This is the first shipment of the year of these onions. All of them are destined to Auckland for New Zealand consumption.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—San Francisco harbor commission property is being loaded on the Ss. Mark H. Gates, secretary of the state board of harbor commissioners told members of the Propeller Club here yesterday. There is a total of 1,000,000 lbs. of goods pointed out the harbor is run by the steamship companies.

Eight transpacific shipping officials from San Francisco will attend the transpacific passenger conference to be held at Banff, Alta., September 21 to 25.

Handling of all wheat and other federal commodities in American flagships will be urged at the national convention of American Legion posts late this month, it was announced here yesterday by C. A. Hunter, chairman of a committee of the Merchant Marine post, which will foster the movement.
